

MARY BALDWIN

Vol. XXXIII No. 2

Summer 1984

TOGETHER AGAIN

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2010 with funding from Lyrasis Members and Sloan Foundation

<http://www.archive.org/details/marybaldwin1984summer>

MARY BALDWIN

Vol. XXXIII No. 2

Summer 1984

In This Issue . . .

Alumnae in the News

Realtor Byrd Williams Abbott (left) is one of the MBC alumnae who are making news. Also featured are Karen Brammer Austin, Barbara Shuler Mayo, and Anne Graves Foster.

Page 4

Mary
Latimer Honored

In one of Homecoming's most touching moments, Betty Timberlake announced the establishment of the Mary Latimer Scholarship. For details, see . . .

Page 3

On the basketball court, Goldie was a leaper; off it a leader. Mary Baldwin will miss this record-setting graduate.

Page 5

Leigh Yates Farmer Takes Office

For an "up close and personal" profile of the new Alumnae Association President, succeeding Susan Baughman Horner, turn to . . .

Page 6

PBK Is High Society

Each year only 200 of the nation's 3000 colleges are permitted to induct Phi Beta Kappa scholars. MBC is in very select company.

Page 16

Issued six times a year: (USPS 331-440) Fall, 3 issues in Winter, Spring, 2 issues in Summer by Mary Baldwin College, Box 1500, Staunton, Va. 24401. Second class postage paid at Staunton, Va., and at additional mailing offices.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Mary Baldwin Magazine, Mary Baldwin College, P.O. Box 1500 Staunton, Va. 24401.

COMMENCEMENT AND HOMECOMING COMBINE FOR SPECTACULAR WEEKEND

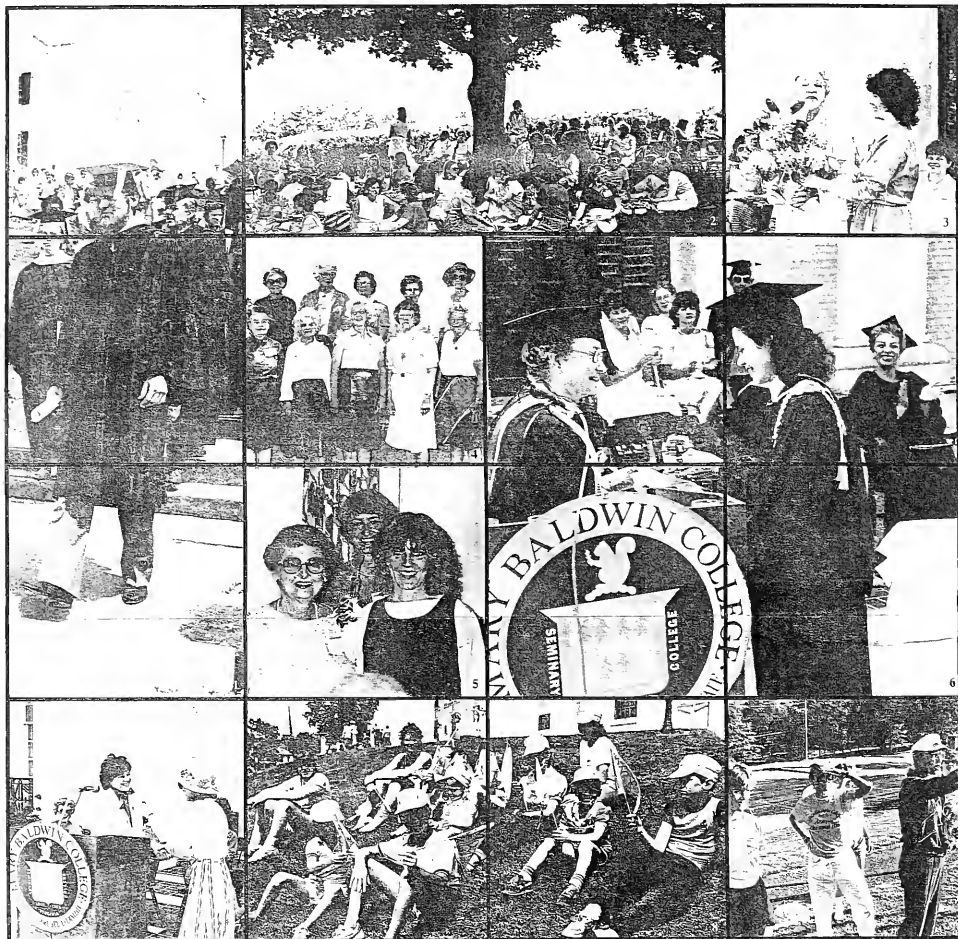

1. Jan Andrews and Sheila Kendrick lead the Senior processional down the hill for Commencement exercises on Page Terrace.
2. SALLY DORSEY Danner '64, LAURIE HOLBROOK Hardwick '64, and SUE EVE Fowlkes '64 signed in and checked to see who had already arrived for Homecoming Weekend. A record attendance of more than 325 alumnae and their guests participated in the weekend activities.
3. Alumnae formed a "bridge" for the Class of '84 during the Alumnae Parade

- to welcome them into the alumnae ranks. The parade preceded the National Alumnae Association meeting.
4. Jerry Coleman, KIT KIVLIGHAN Carter '44, and JO BARKMAN Coleman '24 enjoy President Lester's reception for alumnae after a full afternoon of tennis, golf, campus tours, and visiting.
5. Over 1,000 people covered the hill for the College's 142nd Commencement ceremonies where 192 degrees were conferred to regular and Adult Degree Program students.
6. Members of the Class of 1974

- NANCY ROBERTSON McAtter, MIMI SMITH Burke, LYNN McWHORTER Speno, husband David, BETH ZIEBE, ANN AREY Mason, TOMMY TILLEY Hill, BRIDGETTE RYAN enjoyed the alumnae dinner on Saturday evening.
7. Dr. Jane Freeman Crosthwaite, assistant professor of religion at Mt. Holyoke College, delivered the Commencement address entitled "On Facing the Future." She challenged the seniors to look beyond their outward appearances to their inner selves.

A WEEKEND OF ACTION

1. Dr. Robert Weiss, professor of mathematics, and other faculty members marched in the Commencement procession.

2. Good friends, good food, and a shady tree were all a part of a picnic lunch for alumnae, seniors, parents, and friends. President Lester's back yard provided the perfect setting.

3. For the Class of 1932 VIRGINIA MABEN Stokes '32 receives the Spencer Pitcher from SUSAN BAUGHMAN Homar '74, Alumnae Association President. The award, named for Dr. Samuel Spencer, 5th President of MBC, recognizes the class with the greatest increase in participation in the Annual Fund over the previous year.

Other Annual fund awards that were presented included the Jarman Cup to the Class of 1930 for the highest percentage of participation in the 1982-83 Annual Fund; the Fraser Bowl to the Class of 1917 for the largest total gift to the 1982-83 Annual Fund; and the Lewis Platter to the Class of 1924 for the greatest increase in dollars over the previous year.

4. Members of the Class of 1934 celebrated their 50th reunion. The class was recognized for having the highest percentage of members at their reunion. Attending were (left to right, front row) VIRGINIA WRIGHT Lamb, JULIA GOOCH Richmond, MILDRED MAWHINNEY Clements, CHRISTINE COTTRELL Johnson, JACQUELINE CRINKLEY Maddex, (back row) VIRGINIA LYON Johnson, GRACE CROWE Bobo, ANNE HOLMAN Hinkley, KITTY ZIMMERMANN Kriete, and CHAMPE PARRISH Hall.

5. BETTY BOYD Caskey '39 and JILL MORTON Toyofuku '64, both of Honolulu, Hawaii, received the Roadrunner Award for traveling the farthest distance for their class reunions. MEREDITH

DUNBAR Carlson '60, Homecoming Chairman, looks on. Bruce Faulkner, husband of MARY LAUREN LEHNERTZ Faulkner '79 of Denver, Colo., also received a Roadrunner Award for the husband coming the farthest distance.

6. Martha S. Grafton, Dean Emeritus, presents the Grafton Faculty Academic Award to Sheila Kendrick for her outstanding record. Sheila is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and was the 1983-84 Russell Scholar.

7. Cheryl Garrett, President of the Senior Class, presents the Class of 1984 gift to President Lester. The class raised $1,000 for the refurbishing of Spencer Lounge.

8. Children of alumnae took a break from a busy schedule before viewing their moms in the Alumnae Parade. Seventeen alumnae children took part in the various activities in the first college sponsored Children's Program.

9. Betty Kegley (far right) gives last minute instructions to alumnae before they begin the 2nd annual Alumnae Fun Run on the College's new Wells Fargo Jogging Trail. The Fun Run was won by MARSHA NYE Wice '65. Alumnae and guests also participated in a Round Robin Tennis Tournament which was won by MARIE DIENST Perry '74 of Augusta, Ga., and David Speno, husband of LYNN McWHORTER Speno '74 of Key Biscayne, Fla.

9. Betty Kegley (far right) gives last minute instructions to alumnae before they begin the 2nd annual Alumnae Fun Run on the College's new Wells Fargo Jogging Trail. The Fun Run was won by MARSHA NYE Wice '65. Alumnae and guests also participated in a Round Robin Tennis Tournament which was won by MARIE DIENST Perry '74 of Augusta, Ga., and David Speno, husband of LYNN McWHORTER Speno '74 of Key Biscayne, Fla.

ON THE FRONT: Kathy Barksdale Craine '74 of Columbus, Ohio, and Jane Wright Lauten '74 of Mobile, Ala., enjoy being together again for the Class of '74's tenth reunion.

CAMPUS NEWS

CAMPUS SPOTLIGHTS

(Editor's Note: Information for this article was compiled by Marsha Smith '86, Susan Betts '85, and Dawn Tunney '85.)

Anne Cooper, assistant professor of communications, passed her final oral dissertation defense recently at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill. Ms. Cooper will receive her Ph.D. in August. Also, she recently presented at the University of Maryland a paper entitled, "The Suffrage Movement." In August, Ms. Cooper will present another paper on "Political Television Coverage of News" at the University of Florida.

Ms. Cooper has had two chapters published in Foreign News and the New World Information Order, published by the Iowa State University Press. Ms. Cooper's work deals with the Arab countries and how they covered the Egypt/Israel peace treaty and the language differences in the Arab countries.

Dr. Diane Ganier, assistant professor of psychology, presented a paper in April on "Female Adolescent Self-Perceptions of Similarities With Others and Personal Values." The paper, presented at Rowan College, is based on Nancy Chodorov's theory that the female is trusting of, and concerned about maintaining, attachments. The male supposedly maintains a sense of separateness in his relationships as a result of his need to separate himself from his mother, a feat not demanded of females. Dr. Ganier studied the male and female relationships to mother, father, sibling, friend, and 10 other roles.

Roderic Owen, faculty member and philosophy instructor in the Adult Degree Program, presented a paper on George Orwell and the novel 1984 at a conference held at the University of Akron last winter.

In his presentation, Owen said that those who live in 1984 "are united in their tribute to this man and his vision," as we strive for a world taken from "well's own text," "decency."

Dr. John Kibler, assistant professor of psychology, presented a paper on Phenylpropanolamine (PPA), a Possible Behavior Teratogen on April 19 to the Southern Society for Philosophy and Psychology annual meeting held in Columbia, South Carolina.

Dr. Kibler's paper, investigated the possibility that a widely used substance phenylpropanolamine (PPA), when administered to rats, may produce behavior alterations in their offspring. Dr. Kibler also was awarded a grant by the Mednick Memorial Fund to continue the research throughout the summer.

Dr. Gordon Bowen, assistant professor of political science, has had several articles printed in recent magazines.

Commonwealth Magazine featured an article in June, Armed Forces In Society will run a article in late 1984, and Academe will run an article in the August/September issue.

Dr. Bowen also has a chapter in a book by Don Shultz, Revolution and Counter Revolution In Central America, published by West View Press in May.

Dr. David Molnar, assistant professor of economics, presented a paper entitled "Death and the Business Cycle." The paper examined the peculiar relationship between the business cycle and the death rate in this country. Dr. Molnar found that as the business climate improved, the death rate grew.

Dr. John Wells, assistant professor of sociology, and Dr. David Cary, associate professor of sociology, co-presented a paper entitled "Undergraduates and Professionalism." The paper studied the nature of professionalism and the pursuit of professional status by MBA students.

The papers by Molnar, Wells, and Cary were presented to the Humanities Conference held in April at Randolph-Macon Women's College.

Dr. Margaret Pinkston, Associate Professor of Biochemistry, has received a $1500 grant from Research Corporation to study the biochemical mechanism of a certain hypersensitivity to food. The award will support a student assistant's training in the research area as she works with Dr. Pinkston on the project over the summer.

Rebecca Guun Ward '85 was presented the first Outstanding Chemistry Student scholarship by the Mary Baldwin Chapter of the American Chemical Society Student Affiliates. The recipient is selected by the members of the chapter on the basis of excellent academic performance, high character, and helpful attitude.

Rebecca, an Adult Degree Program senior, is majoring in chemistry. After completing her undergraduate studies, she plans to attend the University of Virginia's graduate program in chemical engineering.

Laurel Elizabeth Gilbert '86 has been selected to attend the London School of Economics at the University of London for her junior year. An economics major, Laurel will be taking numerous 100-level economics courses focusing primarily on the micro-economics level of economic study and those involving the exploration of the central British economic thought.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Gilbert of Orange, Va., Laurel is an honors student and active in campus activities.

Dr. Mary Latimer Corder, Professor of English and Director of Speech and Dramatics at Mary Baldwin from 1923-1946.

The honorée was present for the occasion much to the delight of many who had attended her classes and enjoyed her instruction and inspiration.

The group of alumnae hopes to raise at least $14,000 to provide an annual award to a deserving student of about $1000. All who knew and admired "Miss" Latimer are invited to contribute. Checks can be sent to the College marked for The Mary E. Latimer Scholarship Fund.

The first seventeen contributors are: Marguerite Latham Clemmer '39, Bernie Murphy Deming '46, Peg Naim Dvorshik '46, Virginia Hayes Forest '40, Margaret Hunt Hill '37, Phyllis Brown Holbert '41, Meredith Jones Johnston '43, Louise Vandiviere Mashburn '42, Alice Wilson Matlock '46, Sally Smith Metzger '43, Polly Baughman Moore '40, Jean Young Moore '39, The Pancake Rankin '45, Glo Paradise Rothmeyer '43, Ruth Peters Sprout '43, Julie Sprunt '45, Betty Neisler Timberlake '45.

Retirements

Dr. Marjorie Chambers, professor of religion and philosophy at MBC for 22 years, will retire at the end of this year. Dr. Chambers joined the MBC faculty in 1962. In 1972, Dr. Chambers was chosen as Academic Dean and remained in that position until 1975. Dr. Chambers plans to remain in Staunton and wants to work on her painting and to simply "enjoy life."

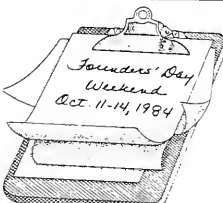

Also retiring is Alfred Booth who has been at MBC for 24 years. In 1965, Mr. Booth started his career at MBC as professor of mathematics after 26 years in the Marines. In 1970, he became the director of institutional research and College registrar. Mr. Booth also plans to remain in Staunton and wants to devote more time to his favorite activities—golf and traveling.

Dr. McKelden Smith, the college physician for 28 years, retired this spring. Dr. Smith served the College while he maintained his private practice in internal medicine in Staunton from 1948 to this year. His relationship with Mary Baldwin also has been a family one with his mother, Emily Pancake Smith '06, and wife, Anne Sims Smith '45, both being alumnae of the College.

In Memoriam

Dr. Charles J. Stanley, Professor of International Studies at Mary Baldwin from 1965 to 1979 and Professor Emeritus of History, died in Staunton on April 28. Dr. Stanley taught religion, political science, Chinese, literature, and anthropology. He was also instrumental in establishing the Phi Beta Kappa chapter at Mary Baldwin during his years here. In honor of Dr. Stanley his colleagues at Mary Baldwin have established a memorial book collection in his name at the Grafton Library.

Born the son of a missionary in Peshawar, China, Stanley's adulthood was truly international in experience; he attended college in Ohio and Yenching University of Peking, taught at the College of Chinese Studies in Peking before World War II, and was a foreign service officer.

Alumnae Leadership Conference
Oct. 11-14
Advisory Board of Visitors Meeting
Oct. 11-13
Founders' Day Oct. 12
Freshmen and Senior Parents
Weekend Oct. 12-13
JOIN US!!

President's Corner

Dr. Virginia Lester

Colleges can no longer afford to allow valuable investments in physical plants to lay idle over long summer months. Our ideal location and beautiful campus make our facilities desirable both summer and winter. Here is a look at the Mary Baldwin campus in summer action.

No sooner did the 192 graduating seniors, their 450 visiting families and friends, and the 327 alumnae depart campus than the physical plant staff, under Dick Barron's leadership, swung into action. Excavation underway for replacement of old steam lines; new black paint being applied to lampposts and railings; residence hall rooms cleaned and painted; alumnae offices relocating to our beautiful new Alumnae House; our newest computer lab being set up; boilers repaired; Hunt and Spencer buildings refurbished; $25,000 of new mattresses; and much more.

The pace quickens in many ways during June, July and August, as the programs coordinated by our own Don Wells will bring over 1,700 people from ages 9 to 87 to campus this summer. Computer camps, Governor's School Internship Center for the Arts, Elderhostel, 6 workshops for teachers with over 850 enrolled, a church youth conference, to name just a sampling.

As many as 500 people at one time will be living in the residence halls and eating in Hunt Hall this summer. MBC faculty teach many of the courses; MBC students act as counselors, coordinators, and teaching assistants.

What's more, summertime program traditions are building: this is the fifth consecutive year for Elderhostel, the third for computer camps, the third time for Intensive Junior Retreat, and the fifth for Doshisha Women's College Exchange Program with our sister school in Kyoto, Japan.

Everyone is busy. New faculty and staff are being hired and trained. Campus and Trustee Long-range Planning Committees met four times in June alone. The admissions office never stops their recruitment efforts. The class of 1988 appears to be even bigger and better than last year's.

The Development Office is completing their efforts to meet our $500,000 Annual Fund goal, the largest in the College's history; they are also planning an immediate kick-off of next year's campaign.

Faculty are attending the Mellon workshop in Richmond. The catalog is being written and printed, as are the student handbook, 1984-85 orientation brochures, and 1985-86 admissions publications. The Dean of Students Office is already making room and roommate assignments for incoming freshmen.

If you get the impression that our summertime schedule is all work and no play let me assure you we will find time to get away and relax. Fall is always seen as new beginnings on a college campus, and we anticipate yet another year of progress at MBC. Hope you're having a great summer too!

Mary E. Latimer Scholarship Honors Former Professor

An enthusiastic group of alumnae who are former students of "Miss" Latimer have created a scholarship in her honor.

Betty Neisler Timberlake '45 announced at the National Alumnae Association meeting during Reunion Weekend that pledges amounting to $9,850 had been obtained from 17 alumnae who wanted to provide a lasting tribute

MARINE SCIENTIST BARBARA SHULER MAYO HOSTS MBC STUDENTS

Dr. Barbara Shuler Mayo '67 hosted five Mary Baldwin students in May at the Center for Coastal Studies in Provincetown, Massachusetts, an institution which she and her husband Dr. Charles A. "Stormy" Mayo, along with colleague Dr. Graham Giese, a coastal oceanographer, founded. The one-week stay at the Center was the first episode in a course of study in marine biology taught at Mary Baldwin. This year was the fourth time that MBC students have had the opportunity to receive "hands-on" experience at the Center.

The Center for Coastal Studies is a nonprofit organization for research and education in the coastal marine environment. Some of the country's most important whale research goes on there, specifically the study of the humpback whale. An interesting symbiotic relationship exists between a commercial whale watching fleet and the scientists at the Center. The scientists act as naturalists guiding those on the whale-watching trips while conducting their own whale research for the Center.

When Barbara Shuler entered Mary Baldwin, she didn't dream that Dr. John Mehner, a member of the science faculty, would influence her to change her major from French to the sciences. During her junior year, MBC arranged for Barbara to participate in a summer course offered by Cornell University at Isle of Shoals Marine Laboratory, off the coast of Maine. This experience, along with her course work at the Mary Baldwin campus, clinched her decision to pursue marine biology as a career. After graduating from Mary Baldwin, Barbara entered the University of

continued on p. 5

KAREN AUSTIN IS TV "CELEBRITY"

Editors Note: The following article first appeared in the Stanton News-Leader February 12, 1984 and is reprinted here with their permission. John Wells is a staff writer for the News-Leader. Karen Austin is the former Karen Brammer, '72, daughter of Gwen Austin Brammer '49.

By JOHN WELLS

Staff Writer
LOS ANGELES—Actress Karen Austin, who landed one of the female leads in the miniseries "Celebrity" which begins tonight on NBC, looks back with fondness on her years at Mary Baldwin College.

In a telephone interview from Hollywood last week, the petite 5 foot 3 actress said she "came into my own" during her tenure as a college student in Staunton.

"I hadn't realized before that I was intimidated by men," said Miss Austin. "I hadn't really thought about it, and all of a sudden I was taking charge. You find out you can do it just like a man."

The actress was raised in Largo, Fla., and attended MBC, her mother's alma mater, from 1968-1972. She says she doesn't readily admit those years to everyone, since it puts her age at about 32, and everyone knows movie stars lie about their age.

It was at MBC that her interest in theater blossomed. She acted in and directed repertory theater and summer stock, participating in all aspects of production, building sets and designing costumes.

She said she received valuable classical training in production at Washington and Lee University, where directors needed actresses, and she was glad to be able to work with actors.

"It was such a relief to act Shakespeare and Moliere," she said. "While in Staunton, she remembers assisting with theater productions at Virginia School for the Deaf and the Blind, and befriending adolescent boys from nearby Staunton Military Academy."

"The high school boys would try to get dates, and we'd tell them to buzz off," she recalled. "The baby soldiers—the 9-, 10- and 11-year-olds—tended to miss having women around, so we would take them to Sunday lunch, sort of like their 'junior mommies'."

The late '60s and early '70s were times of turmoil on the nation's college campuses, and Miss Austin remembered with some hilarity MBC girls' stabs at being college radicals.

The first act of protest was a march through Staunton to indicate the students' disapproval of the war in Vietnam.

"We told people we had a revolution going," she laughed, "and in the protest march we wore skirts so we'd look nice."

"I have great affection for those years spent in Staunton," she said. "There's something about a sunset with church spires in it that is very calming."

Miss Austin completed a year of study as an exchange student at Oxford University in England, continuing to perform in various stage productions, and was graduated from MBC with honors.

She went on to attend Northwestern University, where she earned an M.A. in theater, and continued to appear in summer stock productions. She wanted to be a college professor, and supported herself in numerous acting jobs while finding out college positions were hard to find.

Disenchanted with the Chicago cold, and not thrilled about moving to New York, she moved to Los Angeles, "where the weather is warm and the fruit is cheap."

Her first job on the West Coast was as a tour guide at Universal Studios, where Robert Wagner, on the set of his series "Switch," told her she should be in front of the cameras.

During the next few years, she appeared in numerous commercials, and in guest spots of shows like "Rockford Files," "Three's Company," "Soap" and Wagner's latest series "Hart to Hart."

Television in late 1970 was not a fertile field for serious actresses, and Miss Austin said she found herself playing either bimbos or psychotic killers.

"That was all they wrote for women," she said. "Victims or villains."

Her biggest break came in 1981, when she won the Los Angeles Critics Award for best actress in "Nuts," and

continued on p. 5

BYRD WILLIAMS ABBOTT JOINS MILLION DOLLAR SALES CLUB

Byrd Williams Abbott '64 qualified for New Jersey's Million Dollar Sales Club as an associate with Burgdorf Realtors in Basking Ridge. A criterion for this distinction is posing over $2 million of transactions annually. Early this summer Byrd received her Graduate Realtor Institute designation. Less than 5% of the nation's realtors have earned the GRI designation.

Byrd's sales, which are both residential and commercial, come from "a lot of long hours and hard work." Her clients are largely executive-type people moving into or within the northcentral New Jersey area. Proximity to New York City, an increasing number of corporate headquarters, and an excellent school system are among the selling points of Byrd's region. Her philosophy that "They're all important" has resulted in $5 million in sales in the last 8 months.

One of the clients she remembers best is the senior executive vice-president of a Fortune 500 company who bought a $500,000 residence through Byrd. Another is the local family who needed to make a move and then trusted Byrd's recommendation that a particular house was a special bargain and would be immediately "snapped up." They made a quick bid and bought it at a terrific price. When they asked Byrd to list their previous home, she sold it in 3 days. Needless to say, "they're thrilled."

It was only after the Abbotts moved from the state of Washington to New Jersey five years ago that Byrd seriously considered pursuing a career in real estate, an idea that had been with her for about ten years. Byrd credits her supportive family with encouraging her to take the necessary steps to begin her career. In the last two and a half years since undertaking this endeavor, she has been gratified to find that it is possible for women to successfully combine a career and a family.

An honor student at Mary Baldwin, Byrd was greatly influenced by professors Andrew J. Mahler and James B. McAllister. She is convinced that the cohesiveness of the College and the emphasis on leadership skills, contribute to her achievements in career and volunteer activities. Byrd currently teaches a women's Bible study group which has grown from five members to over one hundred in the last year. Byrd is also a sustaining member of the Junior League.

Byrd still finds time to play tennis and ski, interests she shares with her husband Cort, and two sons, Tez, a college freshman, and Jay, a high school sophomore. Byrd and her family reside in Basking Ridge, New Jersey.

ANNE GRAVES FOSTER 4-H AWARD WINNER

"She is a professional volunteer," says her husband, "and if you don't believe it, look at her calendar."

"She" is Anne Foster '76 of Danville, Virginia. Anne recently was honored with the Bradshaw Service Award for 1984. The award is presented each year to a member of the Virginia 4-H All-Stars, an honorary service organization within the 4-H club. The award is given on the basis of outstanding service to the organization, its parent 4-H club, and to the community at large. Becoming an All-Star required Anne to excel competitively in her area of interest, citizenship. As an All-Star, she joined the top 2% of the 4-H club members who are so honored.

Within the All-Stars Anne serves as scribe or secretary, and she chaired the multi-state All-Star convention when it was held in Virginia. Anne's other volunteer activities include initiating a positive parenting program at Memorial

Anne Graves Foster '76 (right) with her husband Joe and daughters Sarah and Ellen. Photo courtesy Lynn Hey.

Danville, Va. Hospital, serving as Decent for the Danville Museum of Fine Arts and History, acting as board member of the YWCA, and being president of the Junior Wednesday Club. She was listed in the 1981 edition of Outstanding Young Women of America.

A psychology major at Mary Baldwin, Anne was an honor student and member of ODK. Anne has remained active with Mary Baldwin since graduation. She worked as an Admissions Area Coordinator for several years and is now serving as Vice President for Continuing Education of the Mary Baldwin Alumnae Association.

Anne's husband Joe is a professional volunteer, in his own right, having received the Bradshaw award in 1980 for his contributions to the All-Star organization. Joe, a certified public accountant, has served as chief, lesser chief, and medicine man (treasurer) for the state All-Star program.

Anne and Joe have two daughters, Sarah and Ellen. Both, we suspect, are future 4-H ers.

Goldie Dodson Chosen For All-State Basketball Team

"In looking through the past records it has become obvious that Goldie stands far above other athletes and their achievements at Mary Baldwin," explained MBC Basketball Coach Mary Ann Kasselmann. Senior Gayla Dodson, basketball star, has hung up her MBC athletic shoes and graduated, becoming Gayla Dodson, B.A., alumna.

Gayla, better known as Mary Baldwin as "Goldie", is one of the most outstanding athletes to ever play for Mary Baldwin and played basketball for four years at MBC.

"By my sophomore year I was used to playing college ball," she says. Goldie, who played center and forward, was the leading scorer and rebounder for Mary Baldwin for three of her four playing years. She is now the career leader of the College for scoring and rebounding. Goldie was selected all-conference in Division III of the Old Dominion Athletic Conference of Virginia. This honor was topped when she was named to the all-state team (College Divisions-II & III).

Goldie's teammates elected her most valuable player after their 1983-84 season concludes. Her final season was the highlight of her career. Aside from the mentioned honors and achievements, Dodson set an all-time record for the College scoring over 1,000 career points.

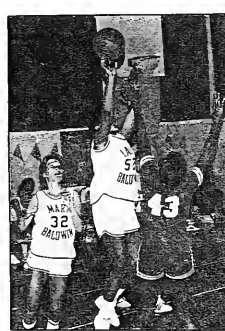

"Scoring 1,000 points wasn't part of my personal goals, but I knew I could break it," she said. Dodson scored her 1,000th point during a home game mid-season against Bluefield College. "I was glad it happened on my home court, my coach and teammates were happy—that made me happy," she added. Before Goldie was finished she racked up a record 1,331 points.

Another highlight of Goldie's basketball career was being chosen "Athlete of the Year" at the 1983-84 MBC awards banquet last spring. This honor came as quite a "shocker," she said.

"Having worked with Goldie for two seasons I have seen her develop into a disciplined team player which complements her overall athletic abilities," said Coach Kasselmann.

However, Goldie attributes a lot of her successes to the inspiration of the basketball team. "As a team we were all inspired. We were a team together and that was especially important because you just don't make it yourself," Dodson commented. Goldie also mentioned how important her coach, Mary Ann Kasselmann, has been to her. "She is a special person with a good heart. I don't really think of her as a coach, but she was great at that, too!"

Before coming to Mary Baldwin College, Goldie played recreational and high school basketball. She received special trophies and awards citing her achievements and was named "Most Athletic" at Luther Junior State High School in Atlanta her senior year. Dodson also enjoys playing softball.

Goldie was a well-rounded student at MBC. She majored in math and is considering graduate school. A four year member in the college "Women of Ebony" club, she served as treasurer of the organization for two years. She worked in the College admissions office for two years, contacting prospective students. Goldie served as treasurer of the Student Government Association and was the first black woman on the College executive council this year. She also served on the Board of Trustees' development committee.

Miss Dodson is going to "take a short breather" after graduation. She may enroll in graduate school next January, however, her main future concern is her career. "I'm taking a break to insure a right career decision," she explained.

Goldie's college career overall is a collective spectrum of achievements and successes. She feels her team, friends, and home were special inspirations for her. "Here at MBC I've really grown. I can't imagine what I'd have been doing for the last four years if I wasn't here, Goldie commented.

Her personal philosophies relate special feelings that Goldie has. "God and

SQUIRRELS' FUTURE BRIGHT WITH PERKINS

With the departure of Goldie Dodson from the Mary Baldwin College Squirrel's midst, it's comforting to know that she is leaving the round ball in good hands.

Nancy Perkins has shown that beauty, brains, and basketball can all be combined in one college career.

A former "Miss Mississippi" who competed in the "Miss America" pageant, Nancy came to MBC as a junior this past year from Belhaven College in Jackson, Miss.

"Nancy is only going to get better and this is a big plus for us," said Coach Kasselmann.

At 6-foot-1, Nancy is leading the Squirrels to new heights. She shared all-conference and all-state recognition with teammate Goldie Dodson. They were among 10 selected in the state to the Small-College All-State Team for Divisions II and III in women's basketball.

Both players also were among five players chosen all-conference in the Dominion Athletic Conference. MBC was the only institution to have two students selected.

Perkins has also become active in other areas at MBC, being elected president of the college's chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, selected to the social committee and to the college's Senate which deals with ways of improving the college for students.

—Ann Clayton Brant

faith got me where I am; God works with me. Mom is my backbone and this makes me love her even more. Live each day to the fullest, and never forget where you came from," she concluded.

—Lee Anne Drury '86

Austin cont.

back on the boards, became the toast of the L.A. stage.

Following this came memorable roles on "Hill Street Blues," and on "Quincy," in which she played a Vietnam veteran and gave the problems of female veterans prominent national exposure.

Miss Austin may now be seen weekly in a new NBC series, "Night Court," a sit-com in which she plays a clerk in a sometimes bizarre Manhattan courtroom.

She gets second billing in her role as Lana, and her long, sandy hair and intense blue eyes do not distract from her capable comic timing and range of expression.

The program has gotten good notices but is up against the night-time soap opera, "Dynasty," to the actress' disgust.

She has become used to fame, she says, to the point where she isn't knocked off her feet when working with other professionals, be they James Garner or Tom Selleck.

There are exceptions, however. "Oh, Katharine Hepburn, Bette Davis," she says, "I wouldn't know what to say to Cary Grant."

She was also pretty awestruck to lunch with venerable Broadway actress Jessica Tandy, who is starring with Miss Austin's fiancé, Bruce Davidson, in a revival of Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie."

She said she and Davidson will marry someday, but she will remain "bicoastal," as long as she works in Hollywood and he on the Great White Way, jet-lag or not.

The actress is quite proud of her work in "Celebrity," the NBC miniseries. She plays a Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright who falls in love with and marries one of the three central figures in the play, a journalist.

It is a demanding role, she said, requiring her, among other things, to age from 26 to 49 in the course of the story. Miss Austin is quite comfortable with her character.

"She's a strong, independent creature," she comments. "Everything a Mary Baldwin girl should be."

Mayo cont.

Miami's School of Marine and Atmospheric Science and completed a Ph.D. in Marine Science specializing in crustacean systems. It was there that Barbara met her husband Stormy who earned a Ph.D. in Marine Biology.

After completing their education, the pair returned to Stormy's home on Cape Cod and began the Center for Coastal Studies in Provincetown.

Barbara is working about half-time now on her research at the Center. She and her family including husband, Stormy, and sons Josiah 6½, and Nathaniel 2½ have moved into The Cape Coder, a guest house that has been in Stormy's family for several generations. Barbara manages this business from April through October.

Besides the responsibilities already described, Barbara also enjoys serving as a member of the Cape Cod National Seashore Advisory Commission and singing in the choir at her church.

Barbara is working about half-time now on her research at the Center. She and her family including husband, Stormy, and sons Josiah 6½, and Nathaniel 2½ have moved into The Cape Coder, a guest house that has been in Stormy's family for several generations. Barbara manages this business from April through October.

According to Mary Baldwin College professor Bonnie Hohn, who teaches the marine biology course, the Center provides our students an opportunity to see some of the most exciting marine research on the east coast. The research at the Center extends beyond the work with whales to include studies of coastal marine habitats such as sand dunes, inter tidal flats, and salt marshes.

MBC students took two whale-watching trips into Cape Cod Bay. One trip resulted in the students observing an extraordinary amount of humpback whale activity. During the other trip a rare basking shark was spotted.

During the week, the MBC students, Dawn Tusing '85, Sharon Menzies '87, Kelly Andrews '85, Priscilla Peters '85, and Terry Hancock '86 also traveled to Woods Hole, Massachusetts, to tour the open ocean research facilities at the oceanographic institution.

Those interested in the marine environment may join the Center. For information, write to Barbara at the Center for Coastal Studies, 59 Commercial Street, Box 826, Provincetown, Mass. 02657.

ADP Grad Makes Father's Dream Come True

By Gail Nardi

Times-Dispatch staff
Reprinted from Times-Dispatch

Gordonsville—It was a small thing, as the world turns, a private drama played before a tiny audience in a lake-side house in Loudoun County. To Martha Draper Holloway and her dying father, it mattered a great deal.

Mrs. Holloway was supposed to receive a bachelor of arts degree in mathematics from Mary Baldwin College in Staunton last Sunday (June 3) nearly 21 years after she went there as a freshman. But on the morning of May 29, it became clear that her 82-year-old father, Godwin Worth Draper, was dying of cancer.

Draper, a retired architect and former member of the Richmond firm of Carneal and Johnston, had been a member of the first class to matriculate at the University of Virginia's architecture school in the 1920s. It was his dream that his daughter would finish her college education.

Mrs. Holloway, 49, had left college to get married and later worked as a receptionist at the Davis Eye Center in Richmond. She and her husband, Bob, moved to Gordonsville several years ago when he became chief of police there. Her parents moved to Lake Louisa four years ago.

When Mrs. Holloway called Mary Baldwin last week to ask if she could have her diploma a few days early, she did not realize that she had created an academic dilemma.

"A diploma isn't a diploma until the faculty votes on it, and it wasn't going to do that until Friday," Dr. James Harington, director of Mary Baldwin's Adult Degree Completion Program, said.

Mrs. Holloway earned her degree through the center, which was created in 1977 and provides flexible courses of study tailored to meet each student's needs.

Mrs. Holloway's request was referred to Irene Hecht, the college's academic dean, who ruled that the diploma could be taken to Louisa and returned to Staunton, but only by a college official.

Dudley Luck, an assistant professor in the adult degree program and coordinator of the program's Richmond center, was on campus that day for a meeting.

"The dean was very thoughtful and very creative in realizing there was a need here that we ought to pay attention to," Mrs. Luck said yesterday. "I sat there thinking, 'Why don't we confer it?'"

"So I got my cap and gown, and I got a cap and gown for her, and I got the school colors and put the ribbon on the diploma, and I took the diploma to her parents' home in Louisa County."

At first, Mrs. Holloway was taken aback by the idea of a special ceremony. "When I suggested that this was so much to give that I felt awkward taking it, they suggested I turn it for my father, and I couldn't say no for him."

Mrs. Holloway's mother, Lois Draper, her 16-year-old daughter, Margaret, and her father's closest friend were present for the ceremony. "I received my diploma at Daddy's bedside. He was slipping very quickly that day, but . . . he did acknowledge the fact that he knew what was going on. At 8:30 a.m. the next morning, he died," Mrs. Holloway said.

"It took a lot of very caring people to do that," she said of her unique graduation exercises. "The idea that any sort of an institution would run through procedures and protocols around their entire machinery around, and for one individual to do something so personal, so compassionate . . . it's very humbling."

"Mary Baldwin has never let me down," she said. "They've been academically excellent, they've been innovative with their adult program, and now they've been so human — I just can't get over it."

ALUMNAE NEWS

Leigh Yates Farmer New President of Alumnae Association

Leigh Yates Farmer '74 is no newcomer to Mary Baldwin's Alumnae Association. The newly elected President became involved in alumnae activities almost immediately upon her graduation from Mary Baldwin and has remained involved during the past ten years.

Leigh describes her work with the Alumnae Association as fun. She explained, "I enjoy giving back to Mary Baldwin my time and efforts. I feel that I reap the benefits of Mary Baldwin every day of my life." As President of the National Alumnae Association, Leigh plans to strengthen the financial status of the Association through fundraising projects, to continue to place emphasis on involving alumnae in recruitment of students, to encourage the chapter network, and to strengthen alumnae support of the College's Annual Fund.

Leigh is manager of business customer billing for Central and Eastern Virginia with C&P Telephone. Her office is responsible for the monthly collection of all commercial accounts which average $46 million a month. In addition to these responsibilities, she also handles calling card fraud and yellow pages advertising. She says her favorite part of the job is calming irritated customers and working with the legal entanglements of billing problems. Leigh has worked with C&P since her graduation from Mary Baldwin in 1974. She has held a variety of positions in the Norfolk, Newport News, and Richmond offices. During the 1983 strike, she even worked as a telephone operator.

A biology major, Leigh has continued her interest in science through volunteer work with the Science Museum of Virginia. She is also involved in volunteer work with Planned Parenthood and the Richmond Marathon. Last year she was chairman of the water stations committee and organized volunteers to man all stations along the marathon route.

Her work with Mary Baldwin has included serving on the Board of the Richmond Alumnae Chapter and chairing the first annual fund phonathon. Since her election to the Alumnae Association Board of Directors in 1979, she has served as Vice-President for Annual Giving, chairman of the Nominating Committee, and First Vice-President. Leigh also chaired the Class of 1974's tenth reunion this past June.

Besides her demanding career and volunteer activities, Leigh enjoys aerobics, gardening, bridge, and traveling. Leigh recently married Stuart Farmer, a 1974 graduate of Hampden-Sydney College. Stuart is an investment broker with Wheat First Securities in Richmond.

In summing up her personal goals, Leigh named as the number one priority, "To maintain a comfortable relationship between career and family. I see my work with Mary Baldwin as a happy combination of the two."

Chapters In Action

Ten alumnae chapters joined forces in April to provide an Easter treat for the current student body. Easter candy was delivered to all residence halls the Wednesday before Easter. This project was sponsored by the Chapter Development Committee of the Alumnae Association Board of Directors and the Washington, New York, Atlanta, Peninsula, Eastern Shore, Dallas, Denver, Columbia, Roanoke, and Richmond chapters.

ATLANTA

Atlanta Chapter officers held a dinner meeting in February with Lee Johnston Foster '75, Director of Alumnae Activities, and Kenneth Armstrong, Director of Development, at the Peachtree Cafe. After an update on the College, plans for future chapter activities were discussed. Atlanta alumnae sent a special Valentine's Day wish to Atlanta area students this year. Current students from the Atlanta area received a special Valentine's gift of candy from the Atlanta Chapter in February.

The Atlanta Chapter's annual business meeting was held on June 5 at the Grand China Restaurant. Election of officers for the 1984-85 year were held and an update on College activities was given by Cathy Turner Temple '68, a member of the Alumnae Association Board of Directors.

COLUMBIA, S.C.

Columbia area prospective students were entertained by Columbia alumnae at a party in April at the home of Grace McCutchen '77. Special guest from the College was George McCune, Director of Special Projects.

The home of Dick and Ellen Moss Westfall '67 was the location of a barbecue for Columbia area alumnae on May 23. Also assisting with the barbecue were Mary Weston Grinball '69 and Rebecca Fouché '77.

EASTERN SHORE

The Eastern Shore Alumnae Chapter has made a gift of furniture to the College's new Alumnae House. The television room has been appropriately named the "Eastern Shore Chapter Room." Fundraising efforts were led by Marjorie Loving McCallé '65, Cecile Mears Turner '46, and Kate Scott Jacob '50.

SAVANNAH

Savannah alumnae were entertained at the home of Peggy Gignalliat Carswell '53 in mid-February at a sherry party. Assisting with the arrangements was Mary Meade Atkinson Sipple '78. Special guest from the College was Kenneth Armstrong, Director of Development.

WINSTON-SALEM

Winston-Salem alumnae enjoyed a coffee at the home of Anne Hemdon '67 on May 22. Kenneth Armstrong, Director of Development, was the special guest and gave an update on the College. Frances Garvey '81 organized plans for the get-together.

HOUSTON

The Houston Alumnae Chapter entertained high school juniors at a dessert party in late April at the home of Robin Watson Livesey '69. Helping with the party were Jane Mattox Turner '38, Claudia Turner Aycock '66, Audrey Martin Watson '40, and Emily Dethloff Ryan '63. Lee Johnston Foster '75, Director of Alumnae Activities, attended from the College.

MICHIGAN AND NORTHERN OHIO

Alumnae in Michigan and the Northern Ohio area joined other alumni from Virginia colleges and universities on June 17 for an Old Dominion Day picnic in Grosse Pointe Woods, Michigan. Representing Mary Baldwin in organizing the event was Sally Wetzel Wicks '78.

NEW YORK

The New York Alumnae Chapter held its annual cocktail buffet and fundraiser on May 15 at the home of Angie Painter '68. Special guest for the occasion was President Virginia L. Leen. Proceeds from the fundraiser will be contributed to the chapter's project to furnish a bedroom in the College's Alumnae House.

DALLAS

Dallas alumnae enjoyed two events on May 2 starting with a luncheon at the home of Carla Rucker Nix '57 and a casual gathering later in the afternoon at the Cardinal Puff. Lee Johnston Foster '75, Director of Alumnae Activities, attended from the College presenting an update on Mary Baldwin. Allison Hall Blaylock '76, Jane Veltick '67, and Haddon Meaders Ote '75 organized plans for the two events.

The Dallas Alumnae Chapter has also made a gift of $3,000 to the College to furnish a bedroom in the new Alumnae House. The fundraising campaign was organized by Peggy Anderson Carr '67 and Joan Veltan Hall '67.

A Dallas Chapter steering committee meeting was held at the home of Agnes Cooper '71 in early June. Officer elections were held and plans were finalized for future alumnae activities in the Dallas area.

Dallas alumnae Allison Hall Blaylock '76, Cindy Henley '79, Mizzy Smith '80, and Ellen Howe '79 enjoyed a late afternoon get-together in early May.

ROANOKE

Officers of the Roanoke Alumnae Chapter met with Lee Johnston Foster '75, Director of Alumnae Activities, for a planning luncheon in April. Representing the chapter were Sarah Belle Eason Parrott '73, Kelly Huffman '80, and Lee Coleman Gutschall '70. Plans for future activities in the Roanoke area were discussed.

RICHMOND

Richmond area alumnae enjoyed the second annual James River Boat Cruise on May 15. Chairmen for this event were Cammy Edal Nichols '80 and Tracie Caskey '80. Other alumnae who helped with this event were Bebe Herbert '77, Mary Kay Schorn Stainback '76, Cricket Frey Morris '72, and Becky Jones Young '75.

This year for the first time the Richmond Chapter offered spring Car packages as an additional fundraising project. The project was chaired by Melissa Wimish Farrell '71. The Car packages were delivered to students on April 20 by Molly Ranney '73. Recent monthly board meetings of the Richmond Chapter have been hosted by Mary Kay Schorn Stainback '76, Cynthia Vaughan Lantz '77, and Carpie Gould Coulbourn '63.

Cammy Edal Nichols '80 and Mary Kay Schorn Stainback '76 put finishing touches on the Bar-b-q dinner at the Richmond Chapter's second annual James River Boat Cruise.

PENINSULA

The spring meeting of the Peninsula Alumnae Chapter was held May 17 at the Hiddenwood Presbyterian Church. Peninsula alumnae entertained high school juniors and held their annual business meeting at this function. Attending from the College were Nancy Burkhalter, Assistant Director of Alumnae Activities, and Jane Korneagy '83, Admissions Counselor.

After an update on the College and a special presentation for the prospective students, officer elections were held. Prior to the chapter meeting, Marty Howard Patton '68 entertained chapter officers and guests from the College at a cocktail buffet at her home.

DENVER

Colorado alumnae enjoyed a barbecue with other alumni from Virginia colleges and universities on June 16. This was the first Colorado Old Dominion party held in recent years.

The Way We Were

Fifty years ago Mary Baldwin—

- Students wore black coat suits and grey hats until Easter when they switched to white suits and hats.

- The first issue of the student literary magazine The Miscellany was published.
- Mary Scott, a maid and good friend to many at MBC for 24 years, died.

Twenty-five years ago—

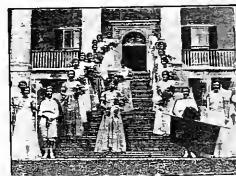

- Classes were held on Saturday and first semester exams were given after Christmas break.
- A record number of applications—463—were received by the Office of Admissions for the Class of 1964.
- Ground was broken for Hunt Dining Hall.

Ten years ago—

- Several student editorials appeared in Campus Comments concerning the "rude, intolerable" behavior of students in the Dining Hall.

- There were two male students on campus—one a local day student and the other a student from Hampden-Sydney on the consortium exchange.
- Applicants for admission were asked to sign the Honor Pledge on the application.

Six Elected to Alumnae Association Board of Directors

Six new members-at-large have been elected to the Alumnae Association Board of Directors. The new members are Betsy Burton Cruse '61, Martha Masters Ingles '69, Hollon Meaders '75, Susan Moomaw '80, Mary Newell '65, and Betty Engle Stoddard '60. Their three-year term will begin July 1.

Betsy Burton Cruse '61 of New Orleans, La., is a mother of three and active in community activities. Betsy is currently president of the Herman-Grima Historic House and holds numerous responsibilities at Trinity Episcopal Church. She is a member of the Junior League, having been a board member and officer. Betsy will serve on the Chapter Development Committee of the Alumnae Board.

Martha Masters Ingles '69 is an account executive with Wheat First Securities in Newport News, Va. Martha serves as chairman of the Loan Committee and secretary of Pulse Development Corp., a nonprofit group promoting downtown redevelopment. She has served as a member of the Board of Directors of the Peninsula Women's Network and is a member of the Junior League of Hampton Roads. Martha will be a member of the Alumnae Board's Continuing Education Committee.

Susan Moomaw '80 of Alexandria, Va., is a program coordinator with the American Bankers Association. Susan has served as president of the Washington Alumnae Chapter, playing a leading role in the reorganization of that group. She is a member of the Republican National Committee, the Smithsonian Associates, and the Alexandria Community Y. Susan will work on the Chapter Development Committee of the Alumnae Board.

Mary Newell '65 works as a research administrator and business manager for the physics department of the University of Virginia in Charlottesville. Mary holds a master's degree from the University of Michigan and a doctoral degree from the University of Virginia. She is a member of the Society of Research Administrators. Mary will serve as a member of the Alumnae Board's Annual Giving Committee.

Hollon Meaders '75 is a dentist in Dallas, Tex. Her professional memberships include the American Association of Women Dentists, Psi Omega Dental Fraternity, the Texas Dental Association, and the American Dental Association. Hollon is an active member of the Dallas Alumnae Chapter and has served as an officer. She is also involved in the Children's Arts and Idea Foundation, the March of Dimes, the Women's Committee for the Ballet, and the First United Methodist Church. Hollon is married and has one son. Hollon will serve on the Admissions Committee of the Alumnae Board.

Betty Engle Stoddard '60 is coordinator of Information Systems for Admissions at St. Mary's College in Raleigh, N.C. She is also a private piano instructor and the mother of two sons. She is active in the White Memorial Presbyterian Church, serving on the Diaconate, the Weekday School Board, and the Sanctuary Choir. Betty co-chaired the Class of 1960's twentieth reunion and is currently a member of the Class Fund Committee for the Class's twenty-fifth reunion in 1985. She has been active in MBC alumnae groups in Raleigh, Montgomery, Ala., and Columbia, S.C. Betty will serve on the Continuing Education Committee of the Alumnae Board.

Six officers were also elected to the Board of Directors for two-year terms. They are Leigh Yates Farmer '74, President, Richmond, Va.; Lindsay Ryland Goudthorpe '73, First Vice-President, Richmond, Va.; Marcia MacDonald Helms '72, Vice-President for Finance, Burke, Va.; Allison Hall Blacklock '76, Vice-President for Annual Giving, Dallas, Tex.; Lee Rooker '85 of Atlanta, Ga., will serve as Student Representative.

Jane Frances Smith Awarded Emily Smith Medallion

Editors Note: Each year an alumna of Mary Baldwin is recognized for her outstanding contributions to the College, her community, church, and Commonwealth. This award named for Emily Pancake Smith '06 was first awarded in 1965. This year's recipient is Jane Frances Smith '37 of Alexandria, Va. Reprinted below is the citation presented to her at the National Alumnae Association meeting June 2.

Susan Baughman Homer '74, Alumnae Association President, presents medallion to Jane Smith.

It is with great admiration and respect that we honor today one of Mary Baldwin's most devoted and distinguished alumnae.

Jane Smith, a native of Staunton, graduated in 1937 with the highest academic average in her class at Mary Baldwin. Having studied history and French, she pursued her interest in history and earned a master's degree in American history from Wisconsin University. She then joined the staff of the National Archives and Records Service in Washington, D.C., and began a full and notable career there which spanned 37 years. Among her career accomplishments have been her authorship of numerous articles on American frontier and settlement history and archival science, her formative role in directing an Archive's conference on Indian-white relations, and her election as a Fellow of the Society of American Archivists. She became Director of the Civil Archives Division in 1971 and continued her service until her retirement in 1979.

Jane's devotion to her college has been exemplary. Possessing a keen intellect and thriving on accomplishment, she has sought to enlighten and enable others. In 1974, she established and continues to support the Carroll Lecture Series in honor of the late Dr. Mary Swan Carroll, professor emerita in history at Mary Baldwin. This annual program brings eminent scholars in history to lecture at the College. She has also established and endowed a College scholarship in the name of her parents, Emma O'Mara and Starke Baken Smith. This scholarship, which will be awarded for the first time this academic year, will assist primarily local day students who have demonstrated academic merit and financial need.

Jane has served the College in other ways: as a member of the Alumnae Association Board of Directors and currently as a member of the Advisory Board of Visitors. In 1976, the College acknowledged her devotion and generosity by bestowing the Emerson and her lively intellect by presenting her with the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award. It is difficult to adequately convey our deep appreciation to someone who has done so much and continues to enrich the College community. It is our privilege to present the Emily Smith Medallion to

JANE FRANCES SMITH

Ham and Jam: MBC Watchdogs

Greeting old and new friends of Mary Baldwin College are two campus mainstays, Ham and Jam. Recently Mrs. Celia Deaby Brodbeck Robertson '28 wrote informing the College of the passing of Margaret Gae Rainer '24. In her letter she reported the story of how Mrs. Rainer and classmate Mary Goodlow Billings, who has also passed away, named the dogs.

As the story goes, the two students were sitting on the Administration Building steps between the dogs one Sunday evening after supper, and one remarked to the other, "All we have on Sunday evening is ham and jam." They and other students immediately began calling the dogs Ham and Jam!

The dogs, now made of cast stone, were originally made of plaster and were added to the front steps of the Administration Building around 1880.

They were given the names Caesar and Pompey because of the Latin and Greek the girls were then studying. During World War I, the dogs were called Wellington and Blucher after military heroes. Whatever the origin of Ham and Jam, they are certainly a tradition at Mary Baldwin.

Ham and Jam have been the subjects of pranks, myths and destruction. Popular thought in the late 1930s and early 1940s was that Ham and Jam were "cadets that came to see their dates but had to wait too long," according to a 1939 student newspaper. During this time, the students' dates were required to come to the front door of the College to be checked in and passed on as presentable.

In the late 1940s or early 50s a tree limb fell and broke the head of one of the dogs. When the head was replaced, a collar was added to hold the repair. This was done for the other dog also, so they would match. Soon after, a prankster carried off one of the dogs and placed it on the front porch of Stuart Hall, our neighboring girls' preparatory school.

In May of 1960, vandals blew up one of the dogs. The statue was removed. Students and alumnae mourned the loss of the dogs. A sympathetic father of a student had the dogs replaced. The survivor was used as a model, and the new dogs were made of cast stone. Each dog weighs 500 pounds. Ham and Jam were returned to their original posts in time to preside over the visit of President Eisenhower on October 27, 1960, and continue to welcome visitors to the campus today.

ALUMNAE SPOTLIGHTS

Anita Saffels Lawson '64 presented a copy of her recently published biography Irvin S. Cobb to the Martha S. Gratton Library of Mary Baldwin College at the National Alumnae Association Meeting during Homecoming Weekend. The account of the native Kennickinn, a personality in the fields of radio, television, and journalism, is published by the Popular Press of Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio.

Mary Weston Grinnall '69 has been named as one of "10 For The Future," a group of young women and men who were recognized recently by the Columbia, S.C., Columbia Record for making significant contributions to their community. Mary was recognized for her volunteer activities including work as vice-president of the Junior League, as chairwoman of The Child Welfare Advisory Committee for the State Department of Social Services, as a member of the steering committee for the Columbia Area Recovery Residences, and as president of the Columbia chapter of Mary Baldwin Alumnae Association.

Kim O'Donnell '81, a third-year law student at the University of Richmond, has been chosen for the National moot Court Team and will serve on her school's Honor Court this year.

Rachel Headerite '26, the first woman ordained to the ministry in the Presbyterian Church U.S., was honored at the Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary, where she is pastor emerita, by declaring May 10 "Rachel Headerite Day."

Anne Ponder Dickson '61 has been appointed to the Texas Governor's Commission for Women. Anne is president of Pressworks, a Texas publishing house and is a member of the Mary Baldwin College Board of Trustees.

Louisa Venable Kelly '22 adds another book to her credit with the publication of A Country Woman's Scrapbook, a record of cherished experiences that come to those who live in the country. Other published works include The History of Eastern Shore Chapel and Lynhaven Parish, The Witch of Pongo, Ram Lam, and My Virginia Childhood.

Carolyn Apperson Hansen '72 was selected as one of the Outstanding Young Women of America for 1983. She was nominated by University of West Florida Vice-President for Academic Affairs, Arthur H. Doerr. Carolyn is a statistician and computer consulting consultant at the University. In the course of her work, Carolyn has aided many community organizations by assisting them with statistical and graphic projects. She is also active in church work, being a youth leader, chairman of the liturgy community and a lay eucharistic minister at Nativity Catholic Church in Pensacola, Fla. She and her husband Jens sponsor the church youth group.

CLASS NOTES

'12

KATHARINE WOODROW Kirkland is living in the Presbyterian Home in Summerville, N. C., and enjoys receiving news of her many friends.

'17

MILDRED SEARSON Goeller of Roanoke, Va., and husband Leo recently celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. They are looking forward to the years ahead at Friendship Manor Retirement Home.

EDITH SEARSON Hawpe of Richmond, Va., is slowly recovering from a car accident. She has four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

'21

EMELYN CRAIG Childs also lives in the Presbyterian Home in Summerville, N. C., and would love to hear from classmates.

'22

MARGARET VANDEVANTER Fancher stays quite busy in Atlanta, Ga., with her church and hospital visitation, as well as two great-grandsons.

'24

JO BARKMAN Coleman and her husband live in Staunton, Va. Jo is very active in Trinity Church and is treasurer of St. Anne's Guild.

PAGE COFFMAN lives in Stoneham, Mass. Page is a retired artist and copywriter.

SHIRLEY HAYNES Hunter recently moved to Delray Beach, Fla. Shirley has four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. She and her husband have plans for lots of traveling this summer.

ERNESTINE REDWINE Robinson lives in Spiro, Okla., where she is active in her church and the senior citizens group. Ernestine traveled to Israel, Greece, the British Isles, Ireland, Wales, and four Hawaiian islands last year.

ORLEAN VANDIVER Curtin lives in Old Lyme, Conn., and is active in her church and the sewing eye program.

'29

ELVIRA BOXLEY MacGregor is a housewife in Orange, Va. Her husband is president of Marygrove Motors.

VIRGINIA BROOKS stays busy with church activities and Meals on Wheels in Staunton, Va.

MARIE GORDON MacDonald Rouse is a housewife in Baltimore, Md., and her husband is retired.

RUTH NAFF is a retired teacher, living in Newport News, Va. She is a life member of the Women of the Church and is active in the League of Women Voters.

MARY GARLAND TAYLOR is living with her sister Charlotte in the Village at the Sunnyside Retirement Home in Harrisonburg, Va. She is active in the First Presbyterian Church, teaches a Sunday school class, serves as a Bible moderator and is chairman of Ecumenical Missions and Relations in the Women of the Church. Mary Garland speaks occasionally on ecumenical missions.

REBECCA WHITE Kenney of Keller, Va., stays busy with hospital volunteer work and church activities. Since retired, she and her husband lead a quiet and very happy country life.

'30

EVELYN BAKER Arey of Minneapolis, Minn., is looking forward to having all of her children, 13 grand children, and two great-grandchildren together this summer to help celebrate her 50th wedding anniversary.

VIRGINIA ALDRICH Fogie is very busy with an addition being added to her home in Miami, Fla., taking care of two grandchildren, and working at the Museum of Science.

ALICE BITNER Freund of Lancaster, Pa., and her husband William have recently traveled to Switzerland and Germany.

HARRIET SEEM ("Seemie") Noff sends her best wishes to classmates from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and writes that they are making plans to move into a retirement village.

'34

MARY BENSON Buckley of El Dorado, Ark., is enjoying retirement, her six grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

ANNE HOLMAN Hincley is a homemaker in Ogden, Utah. Her husband John keeps busy with automobiles, real estate, and cattle.

FLORA BOZARTH Brennan is a housewife in Williamsburg, Va., and her husband Frank is retired.

CAROLINE CALDWELL Leith lives in Richmond, Va., and is a homemaker.

JACQUELINE CRINKLEY Mad-dex of Orange, Va., is involved with church activities, the museum, and library. She and her husband Jack (a retired pharmacist) enjoy traveling as much as possible.

GRACE CROWE Bobo is a painter in Mt. Holly, N. J., and is involved with the Art Guild and her Presbyterian church. Her husband Henry is an engineer. Grace writes that she paints every day, mostly watercolors, and she wins prizes in shows, sells some, but mostly paints for the fun of it.

LUCY DORSEY Nash lives in Louisville, Ky., and is the proud grandmother of six.

KATHERINE DRAKE of Bridge-water, Va., is a retired teacher who finds time for knitting, sewing, and reading.

KITTY DRUMMOND Brdngforth is a homemaker in Williamsburg, Va., and her husband is retired from Colonial Williamsburg. Kitty is active in her church, the Altar Guild, and garden club.

JULIA GOOCH Richmond is the proprietor of a tree farm in Deerfield, Va. She is also involved with the garden club, fire department auxiliary, and summer school teaching.

CECILIA GROVE Burrus stays busy in Macon, Ga., where she is involved in the March of Dimes, Red Cross, and is a swimming instructor. Her husband Herbert is retired from the real estate business.

Now that BETTY KEITH HARRISON Roberts has retired from government work, she stays busy with volunteer work in Falls Church, Va. VIRGINIA LYON Johnson is a homemaker in Delray Beach, Fla., and enjoys riding her bike "po hands." Her husband Albert is a retired attorney.

MILDRED MAWHINNEY Clements is a retired nurse in Warsaw, Va., and finds time to volunteer work with the Richmond County volunteer rescue squad and Red Cross. Husband Boyd is a retired pharmacist.

JACQUELINE PERKINS Rippard is a homemaker in Clearwater, Fla., and her husband is retired.

EMILY TIMBERLAKE Watterson is a housewife in Charlottesville, Va., and mother of three sons.

PAGE WELTON is retired and living in Winchester, Va., where she is a volunteer with the American Red Cross.

VIRGINIA WIGHT Lamb lives in Richmond, Va., and is an active volunteer in the Crippled Children's Hospital, the Colonial Dames of America, the Museum of Confederacy, and St. James Episcopal Church. Her husband Wade is a retired CPA.

EVELYN WOOD Chatham of Campbellsville, Ky., is a homemaker, as well as being on the church administrative board and a sustaining member of the Junior League. Evelyn writes that they "are back home in her old back yard and playground having bought a townhouse located on land which my parents owned when I was a child!"

CATHERINE ZIMMERMANN Kriete is a homemaker in Richmond, Va., and is a volunteer with Meals on Wheels and the Christians' Women's Club.

MARY CHAMPE PARRISH Hall lives in Richmond, Va., and has three children.

JEAN GOULD Clarke of West Palm Beach, Fla., stays busy traveling with her husband, most recently flying to Knoxville, Tenn., to see their new granddaughter.

'38

MARY HUTCHESON Ragland is enjoying her active life in Martinsville, Va. She has five grandchildren and enjoys her church and other activities. She is planning a June trip to Europe.

JUNE BELKNAP Padelford of Winter Haven, Fla., is involved with the Junior League. Husband Robert is an insurance executive.

ELEANOR CELY Carter is a homemaker in Chapel Hill, N. C., and her husband Joel is a retired music professor.

REBA CLEMMER Dunlap from Staunton, Va., is a retired teacher and is active in the Women's Club, the Historical Society, and the garden club. Reba's husband Russell is a retired college professor.

DOROTHY COHEN Silverman is a consultant to retiring teachers in Melville, N. Y., and her husband Eliot is a math professor at Suffolk County Community College. For the past six years, Dorothy has been a trustee of the New York State Teachers' Retirement System, elected by the teachers of New York State.

VIRGINIA COOKE Volk is a homemaker in Sarasota, Fla., where she is active in her church and the Cancer Society. Her husband Frank is retired.

ADELE GOOCH Kieselring retired in 1980 from her job at Stuart Hall in Staunton, Va., but keeps busy with church activities, the Cancer Society, Red Cross, and the library.

MARION HARTLEY Todd and her husband are both retired and now find time for golf. Marion loves living in St. Simons, Ga., and is busy as a volunteer with the Red Cross and Hospice.

PEGGY LOU HOOVEN Murphy of Glastonbury, Conn., is a retired legal secretary and is the proud grandmother of four.

LELIA HUYETT White of Perry, N. Y., is a volunteer in the hospital auxiliary and Girl Scouts, and finds time for golfing, singing, and fox hunting.

JOSEPHINE JACKSON Dickerson lives in Great Neck, N. Y., and would love to hear from some of her classmates.

NANCY FERRIS Kail lives in Petersburg, Va., and is an active volunteer with the American Red Cross, church, and Meals for the Poor. Nancy's husband is retired, and they have six grandchildren.

MARTHA JOHNSON Kaplan writes from Macon, Ga., that she is a television editor and her husband is assistant manager at Sepp's.

SARAH LACY Müller is a homemaker and Tupperware dealer in Hinton, Va. She was ordained and installed as the first woman elder at Cooks Creek Presbyterian Church (an old church dating back to 1742) on January 1, 1984. Her husband Gilbert is retired from real estate.

SARAH LATHAM Campbell and her husband moved to Richmond, Va., when he retired to be near their daughters. They are active in the Tuckahoe Church and "Y" swim-swims, and Sarah is a teacher of home-bound students.

DOROTHY SPRUCE Schick is a housewife in Livermore, Calif. Her husband is retired from Sandia Corporation.

JANE MATTOX Turner is the manager of an apartment complex in Houston, Texas. She is active in her church choir, the medical auxiliary, and serves as secretary for the Houston MBC Alumnae Chapter. Jane has three grandchildren.

PAGE MOFFETT Kable is a self-employed storekeeper in Staunton, Va. She enjoys sketch shooting, is currently the Virginia 12-gauge lady champion, and serves on the board of directors of the National Skeet Shooting Association.

ALICE BORDEN MOORE Sisson is a therapist/counselor in Wnghtsville Beach, N. C. Her husband is a retired oil dealer, and they have four grandchildren.

MARY ELIZABETH PHILPOTTS Hudgens of Mohajack, Va., is a housewife, and her husband William is owner of Tidewater Oil Service, Inc.

ALMA LEE STRIDER Christian is a homemaker in Charles Town, W. Va., and her husband Joseph is retired.

NELDA TERRIE Swann of Highland Springs, Va., is retired and enjoys her church activities, crafts of all sorts, and playing bridge. Nelda recently enjoyed a cruise to Bermuda.

WINIFRED YOUNG Bowman and her husband are both retired and live in Staunton, Va. They have two grandsons, John and Joseph.

After 30 years of classroom teaching and as a curriculum supervisor,

GERALDINE BERRY Young has retired from the Augusta County school system. She and her husband plan to travel, visit their children, get involved with church and civic organizations, and tend to their 150-acre farm. They live in Staunton, Va.

'39

HAZEL ASTIN Buchanan of San Antonio, Tex., is busy with the hospital auxiliary. Her husband is retired and involved with oil production and ranching.

MATHILDA BRUGH O'Bryant is head of the cataloging department at the Notre Dame Library in South Bend, Ind.

CAROL BOWMAN Coveo is retired in Delta, Fla., where she is a volunteer with the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and the March of Dimes. Her husband Glenn is also retired, and they have five grandchildren.

BETTY BOYD Caskey is a retired naval officer in Honolulu, Hawaii. Betty stays busy with the Episcopal church, community theater, and the American Cancer Society. She has recently had a 14-month trip to London.

KATHRINE BRECHT Binkley is the educational director at the Arts and Sciences Museum in Oklahoma City, Okla. Kathrine was previously director of the National Cowboy Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center.

ANNA PERRY CAPERTON Everhart and husband Leighton are both retired and live in Wilmington, Del.

EDITH CARPER is a legislative analyst and lobbyist in Washington, D. C.

MARY ANN DAVIS Martin of Punta-Gorda Isles, Fla., is a housewife, and her husband Donald is retired. They are very active in their community and enjoy traveling and golf.

MARCIA GOOCH Johnston is a homemaker in Roanoke, Va., is involved in civic activities, and plays tennis twice a week. Her husband Fowler is a realtor.

NINA GRIFFITH O'Malley is a homemaker in San Diego, Calif., and husband John is a retired insurance auditor.

JANIE HOLMAN Edwards of Barrington, Ill., is a housewife and is involved with the Altar Guild. Her husband works in educational communications.

HELEN HULL Yood is a homemaker in Plainfield, N. J., and stays busy with the hospital auxiliary. Her husband is an internist, and they have two grandchildren.

SARAH JONES Wright lives in Ashland, Va., is retired, but keeps busy with her home, gardening, civic clubs, and church. Her husband is also retired, and they have three children.

SHIRLEY KEELGAR Williamson is a homemaker in Woodhaven, N. J., is involved with church work, and is also a teacher's aide. Her husband works for Honeywell.

IDA MAE KELLOUGH Robb of LaVale, Md., is a retired school teacher, and her husband John is a retired attorney and judge. They travel extensively and spend four months each winter in Florida.

Since retirement in Alexandria, Va., MILDRED LAPSEY is involved with heart drives and is president of Mt. Vernon Hospital Auxiliary.

MARGUERITE LA THAM Clemmer lives in Dayton, Va., and is involved in many community projects. Marguerite's husband has recently retired, and they have two grandchildren.

ANITA MALIGAN lives in Oadell, N. J., is retired and currently working on a cookbook, and is "forevermore confronted with deadlines." Anita's father recently celebrated his 101st birthday and still goes to New York City twice a week on business. Anita writes that she is still foodloose and fancy free!

MARGIE LEE PHIPPS Shick is a homemaker in Greentown, Va., and her husband Melvin is retired from General Electric. Margie Lee serves on the Waynesboro Aglow Chapter board and is part of the Hi Noon Symphonettes, a women's senior citizens band.

SARAH MAUPIN Jones is a homemaker in Waynesboro, Va., where she is on the hospital board of trustees and works with the American Heart Association. Sarah is also a member of Mary Baldwin's Advisory Board of Visitors and has three grandchildren.

FRANCES RUE Godwin of Phoenix, Ariz., is working as Director of Parish Life at a large Phoenix church and is a volunteer with the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. Her husband is a homemaker, and they do quite a bit of traveling, having recently spent three weeks in India.

MARGARET SHIELDS Boyer of Woodstock, Va., is retired after teaching high school math for 29 years. Her husband is also retired, and they are active in a number of civic organizations.

SHIRLEY CATPUS Smith Hauri is a homemaker in Orange, Calif., is a homemaker and crafts person. Her husband is an engineer with Rockwell International, and though they have slowed down some, they still travel extensively.

LOUISE WILSON Harlow of Hillsborough, Calif., is a homemaker, and her husband is a rancher. They are busy building a winter home where they will experiment with growing citrus of many varieties.

EUGENIA VANCE Welch is a homemaker in Kalamazoo, Mich., where she is active in the Michigan Orton Dyslexia Society. She enjoys traveling with her sister, ROBERTA VANCE Houder, 36, and they recently took a trip to Spain.

JEAN YOUNG Moore lives in Staunton, Va., and is active in her church, Scouts, Needlework Guild, and the Wesleyan Religious Education Board. Her husband is an engineer and cattle farmer, and they find time for traveling, community affairs, and the grandchildren.

'40 EMMA PADGETT Fitzhugh of Newport News, Va., and her husband have been looking forward to a trip to Italy where they will be attending a reunion of his bomber squadron.

MARGARET ALDRICH Foyle is having an addition put on her home in Miami, Fla. Virginia stays busy caring for two grandchildren after school, coping with two Akita puppies, and working as a volunteer at the science museum. In addition, the gift shop must be manned seven days a week, and school tours must be provided during school hours!

ALICE BITNER Freund and her husband recently took a ten-day trip to Switzerland and southern Germany and loved every busy minute of it! Alice and her husband live in Lancaster, Pa.

'41 JOYCE ALBRIGHT Greig of Ft. Wayne, Ind., is planning to spend a month in France this summer.

'42 JANET WERNER Harris lives in Fredericksburg, Tex., and visits regularly occasionally with BETTY BAILEY Hall who lives in Austin, only 80 miles away.

'43 MARY BAGLEY Higgins of Shelbyville, Tenn., is busy with her volunteer activities which include working with the church and the local library. Mary's husband is semi-retired.

JACQUELINE BALHATCHET Downey is living in Colorado Springs, Colo., and is active in the community through work in the Historical Society, the rehabilitation center, hospital, and politics. She has recently become the proud grandmother of Colorado's first "test tube" baby.

ADA BUTLER Arthur of Middle-town, Conn., is an administrative assistant for the art department at Wesleyan University. She works as a volunteer in the emergency room of her local hospital.

MARJORIE CARTER Lacy is a homemaker in Waco, Tex. Her volunteer activities include Junior League and Planned Parenthood. Marjorie's husband is the chairman of the board for Plantation Foods. They have three grandchildren.

JANE COHRON Godfrey is in the civil service section of the U. S. Naval Air Station in Virginia Beach, Va. She stays active in the community through work in the church and local newspaper.

Her husband is retired, and they have three grandsons.

OLIVIA GLOVER Harless of Houston, Tex., is a homemaker, and her husband is retired.

ANN GRAHAM Hazzard does part-time work for a marketing research firm in Bethesda, Md. Her husband is a design engineer for the U. S. government.

MARGARET O' (Miggle) HARELL Sayler of West Law, Pa., is a homemaker. Her volunteer activities include being coordinator of the neighborhood health center, working on the housing commission, and the Community Action Volunteer Corps. Her husband is president and owner of a food corporation and they have four children.

HARRIETT HARRINGTON Connolly is a retired teacher in Colorado Springs, Colo. Her time is spent working with the church and the Junior Classical League. Her husband is retired.

MARY HEUBECK White is a homemaker in Olive Branch, Miss., and her husband owns a dairy farm.

MARY HULL Calkins is an artist in Houston, Tex. Her volunteer activities include her church and the Artists Guild. Her husband is an attorney, and they are grandparents of five.

CAROLINE HUNT Schoellkopf lives in Dallas, Tex., and is busy planning new hotels in Washington, D. C. and Hawaii. Caroline is a volunteer with the Arthritis Foundation and the Salvation Army and has received the Keystone Award for renovation of a historically significant structure and an award for excellence in community service from the Dallas Historical Society. Her husband is president of an air charter business.

GRATIA KAYNOR Deane is a retired teacher in Suffield, Conn. Her charitable activities include church work and work with amputee groups. Her husband is sales manager for a food packaging plant.

FRANCES KNIGHT Nollet is a kindergarten teacher in Endwell, N. Y., and her husband is an owner in a very specialty products company. Their favorite hobby is to fly their Cessna 210 plane to visit their children.

KATHY LUCAS Hammers lives in Kiawah Island, S. C., where she is a school teacher. Kathy's husband is a professor at The Citadel.

MARY JANE LYLES Houston of San Antonio, Tex., is a homemaker and a volunteer for the Economic Council for Religion and Health. Her husband is a senior chairman of the board for a national bank. They have two grandsons. They enjoy traveling and have recently returned from trips to the Arctic and Africa.

SYLVIA MEINER Hanau lives in La Grange Park, Ill., where she teaches the third grade.

GLORIA PARADIES Rothmayer of McLean, Va., is a homemaker. Her volunteer activities include working with a recording service for the visually handicapped and as a White House volunteer. Her husband is senior vice-president for American Security Bank.

RUTH PETERS Sprout lives in Staunton, Va., and is a homemaker and an artist. She is an active volunteer with the Cancer Society and her church. Her husband is a retired doctor.

MARGARET O'PATRICK PRICE Pinson lives in Williamson, W. Va., and is a homemaker. She stays active in the community through work with her church and as a blood donor.

MIMI PROFF Batson is a homemaker in Pensacola, Fla., and is active in her church, Women's Home, and the hospital auxiliary. Mimi's husband is an orthopedic surgeon.

BETTY RAY Munson of Washington, D. C., is a homemaker and president of the Women's Association of her church. Her sparetime activities include bridge and art. She has three grandchildren.

MARY SCOTT Walton lives in Lexington, Ky., where she serves her community through her work with the Meals on Wheels program. Mary's husband is in the insurance business.

BABBARA STEEDMAN is a retired kindergarten teacher in Kennebunkport, Maine. She currently writes a weekly e-news column for the New York Coast Star and is writing the history of Goose Rocks Beach.

BETTY JEAN STARK Cullen is a homemaker in Kansas City, Mo., and is enjoying grandmotherhood! Her husband is retired.

JULIA MONROE McCabe of Williamsburg, Va., is vice-president and treasurer for John W. McCabe Company, and her husband is an engineer there also.

From Marietta, Ga., EMILY JERGER writes that she is a patient representative at Archbold Memorial Hospital and is a volunteer with the Humane Society.

ALICE GARRETT Tanner and Matthias live in Richmond, Va. Anne is a homemaker, and Matthias is in the private practice of clinical psychology.

MARTHA SPROUSE Stoops is a professor of history at St. Mary's College in Raleigh, N. C., and writes that "Teaching is very hard work these days; so different from 24 years ago when I began at St. Mary's." She and her husband will be traveling to Hawaii and Bellingham, Wash., this summer, which will include a visit with their new grandson. Martha's husband is a professor at North Carolina State University.

ELAINE TIEMAN is a retired associate director of libraries at McNeese State University in Lake Charles, La. Her volunteer activities include work with the local museum and her church.

ANNA LAURA WINSLOW Newbold is a homemaker in Arlington, Va. She has recently traveled to California to visit her son.

SALLY WHEAT Porter of Stanardsville, Va., is a homemaker, and her husband is a retired contractor.

MARGARET MCMURRAY Hotel is a homemaker in Harrisonburg, Va. Her husband is a retired Presbyterian minister, and they are both busy with church activities, the Clothes Closet, and an art class.

BETTY CREWS Brandon is a homemaker in Columbia, S. C., is active in her church, and is on the boards of Hammond Academy and the Housing Authority.

MEREDITH JONES Johnson is a homemaker in Warren, Pa., and is active in her church and hospital auxiliary. Meredith's husband is president of Allegheny Valve and DeFries Family Foundation.

'44 JESSIE CROSBY Turk is a senior social service worker in Tucson, Ariz., and her husband is a real estate broker. They have two children, Jennie and Scott.

NELL DORSEY lives in Henderson, Ky., where she stays busy with the local hospital and serving as an elder in her church.

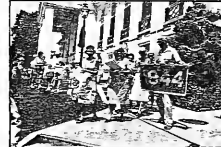

VIRGINIA GOCHENOUR Reid writes that she is a grandmother of four and loves every minute of it! She is a Sunday School teacher and member of the First Methodist Church of her church. Her husband Malcolm is retired, and they live in Staunton, Va.

ANNE HANEKE McLaugh is a homemaker in Lima, Ohio, and her husband is owner and agent for McGough Insurance Agency. Anne and Bill take frequent vacations to Florida and Dallas and find time to play golf spring, summer, and fall. They have four grandchildren when they adopt.

JODIE HANNAH Holt of Blacksburg, Va., has recently resigned as assistant director of admissions at Hollins College. Jodie is active in the Art Association, APVA, and her church. Her husband is a professor of electrical engineering at Virginia Tech. They have four children and five granddaughters!

Jodie and husband lead a busy life of working (career and volunteer), study, travel, helping their families, children, grandchildren, and lots of tennis!

JULIA HEDRICK Campbell is a part-time realtor in Piehurs, N. C.,

ANNOUNCEMENTS

and her husband is a lawyer in the process of retiring.

ANN KIVLIGHAN MacLeod lives in Upperville, Va., where she is a farm manager and free lance writer. Ann keeps busy with volunteer work in the Red Cross, her church, and the Garden Club.

KIT KIVLIGHAN Carter is a homemaker in Ft. Defiance, Va., and her husband is a physician. Kit is active in her church, the Garden Club and the After Care Club. Their children are Henley, Beverly, Joe, and Alex.

From Smithsburg, Md., JULIA KOHLER Peterson writes that she is a consultant in social medicine and a medical social worker with the Washington County Health Department. Her volunteer activities include being on the board of directors of Hospice and serving on the education committee of the Maryland Society of Crippled Children. Julia's husband is retired from civil service and USNR. Julia and husband are grandparents to three grandsons and one granddaughter.

JERRY LEGRAND Chapman and husband are land developers (Porpoise Bay Company) in Vero Beach, Fla. Jerry is on the board of directors of the Visiting Nurse Association and is active in the Riverside Club.

LAURA McMANAWAY Andrews is a piano teacher in Auburn, Wash., is district president of United Methodist Women, and is a member of the Music Teachers Association. Laura's husband is a minister, and they recently attended the opening of the World Council of Churches in Vancouver, B.C., an exciting and inspirational experience. Also, they will be leading their fourth overseas tour for July and August 1984—this time a 20-day trip to Great Britain, Israel, and Oberammergau.

POLLY ANN MISH Bundy is a housewife in Raphine, Va. Her husband is retired, and they have three children and three grandsons.

MILDRED MOHUN Lombard is a housewife and hospital "pink lady" in Stuart, Fla. She and her husband have recently enjoyed a trip to Australia, New Zealand, the Fijis, and Hawaii. Their children are Susan and Forest, Jr.

BETTY SMITH Chapman of Myrtle Beach, S.C., stays busy with church work, Mobile Meals, the United Way, and the Heart and Cancer Funds. Betty recently spent three weeks in Spain, followed by two weeks at Sambil Island, Fla. Betty has seven grandchildren!

Although FRANCES SUTER has retired from her teaching and administrative duties at Peace College, she keeps very busy with volunteer activities. She belongs to the King's Daughters' Hospital Auxiliary, is an elder in her church, and is on the budget committee and a member of the Mission Council of the Shenandoah Presbytery. Frances held an "Open House" for Garden Week in April at her home in Ft. Defiance, Va.

FRANCES TAYLOR Roberts lives in Orangeburg, S.C., and is on the board of the Orangeburg Association for Retarded Citizens. Frances travels frequently with her minister husband as he visits churches and other ministers in the state.

BETTIE SUE TRIMBLE Mabray is a homemaker in Monroe, La., is active in her church, and is a "pink lady" in the local hospital. Bettie Sue's husband Jack is owner of Somerset Plantation.

BETTY WOLFE Windham writes from Houston, Tex., that they also have a home on the beach at Galveston which they enjoy. Betty's husband is a retired oil well drilling contractor, and they have three children and a grandson.

LIB WYSOR Jordan lives in Kingston, N.C., and is involved in her church, church choir, handbell group, Meals on Wheels, and shut-ins. Lib has one granddaughter.

MARGARET C. CREEL Minicler of Longwood, Fla., was very busy this summer putting 12,500 miles on their van traveling the Far West and Upper West. They also visited Belgium to see their new granddaughter. They have seven grandchildren.

MARY ALICE BRAND Boyle and her family live in Lexington, Va. Mary Alice's husband is a Presbyterian minister, and Mary Alice is a housewife. They have two children, Louis and Stephen, one grandchild, and one on the way.

CECILE CAGE Wavell of Corpus Christi, Tex., is busy with book review, and 6 grandchildren. Husband Kenneth is into wholesale hardware, farming, and ranching.

AN DOWDEL Stauss and husband live in New Orleans, La., where she is busy with three part-time jobs. Husband Edward is a retired attorney and part-time consultant.

MARGARET EARLE Baker from Bronxville, N.Y., is busy with teaching and the Lawrence Hospital Auxiliary.

JEAN ELIZABETH GRIFFITH Mitchell and husband live in Frankfurt, Ky., where Jean is a homemaker and husband Charles is a CPA. They are busy with family, travel, and golf, also their 40th anniversary.

CARMEN HAYES Anderson of Texas City, Tex., is busy being a housewife and a part-time teacher. Husband Allan is a Presbyterian minister.

JOSEPHINE LOCKHART Reid and husband of Mill City, Ore., are involved in the medical field. Josephine is a radiologic technologist, and husband John is a Surgeon.

NONA JEAN MACKLINBURG Hulsey of Oklahoma City, Okla., enjoys being the first woman director of Liberty National Bank and being on the Chamber of Commerce. Nona is an executive director. Nona is also enjoying hunting and traveling.

ELIZABETH McCAMPBELL Burton of Miami, Fla., is involved with volunteer counseling and is enjoying gardening, bridge, tennis and her beach condominium.

MARJORIE ALENE McNEILL Roberts lives in Beville, Tenn., where she is a buyer and seller of gifts and antiques. Husband John is owner of a hardware store.

MARY McREYNOLDS Harpel of Clarksville, Tenn., is involved with volunteer activities in the church, Meals on Wheels, and civic activities.

NANCY NETTLETON Rood lives in Shinkoff, Conn., where she is a kindergarten teacher and involved with the church choir, hospital gift shop, and the Girl Scouts. Her husband Kenneth is a teacher at a private day school. They have one grandchild.

ELIZABETH RIVES POLLARD Houser lives in Thomasville, Ga., and is involved in interior design and volunteer activities such as Junior League, Main Street Board, and Memorial Hospital Board. Husband John is an attorney; they have two children.

GAIL KATHRYN RILEY Blakey is a clinical social worker in Norman, Okla. She is also involved in adult Christian education.

MARGARET ROBERTS Waggoner of Dayton, Ohio, is a homemaker and has seven children. Husband John owns his own company and is involved in sales.

NANCY ROYECROFT Perry is a housewife in Winston-Salem, N.C. Husband Russell is a pediatrician. They have one grandchild.

CAROL SALTZBURG Moore of Southport, N.C., is involved with volunteer activities, coordinator for Hospice, and chairman of nature trail. Husband Draden is in real estate.

DARCY SCUDDER Kirk of Andover, Mass., handles residential real estate, and husband Charles is retired U.S. Navy. They are enjoying their four grandchildren.

BABETTE SELHAUSEN Trader of Kalamazoo, Mich., is dean at Kalamazoo College and is involved in the child guidance clinic. Husband is professor and department chairman at Western Michigan University. They plan to spend more time at Hilton Head Island, S.C., where they have purchased a condominium.

ANNE SIMS Smith from Staunton, Va., is a homemaker and is involved with the church, garden club, fire arts, Historic Staunton, and the Woodrow Wilson Birthplace. Husband McKeldeen is a recently retired doctor.

SALLY SMITH Metzger of Ridgewood, N.J., is treasurer of the North N.J. Foundry Co. They are enjoying Islam and Japan, their two siamese cats. They plan to travel to Italy in September.

FLORINE STANSELL Davis from Goliad, Tex., is working as a legal secretary for her husband Wayne. They plan on traveling to England, Scotland, and Wales in July.

MARY TOMPKINS Manus is a housewife in Brownsville, Tex. Husband Williams is a chemical plant manager.

ANN WHITEHEAD Thomas of Round Hill, Va., is a homemaker and active in her church, Handley Library Local History and Genealogy Committee. Husband Roger is retired.

BETTY NEISLER Timberlake is a homemaker in Lake Waccamaw, N.C. Her husband Buck is a real estate broker. They have four grandchildren.

GLADYS McMANAWAY Poindexter teaches singing and loves it. She is active in officiating in competitive swimming, the administrative board of her church, and in professional organizations. Gladys lives in Winston-Salem, N.C. and has a grandson.

JANE DARDEN Britt of Mt. Airy, N.C., has two grandchildren. Her father passed away in February at Virginia Beach, Va.

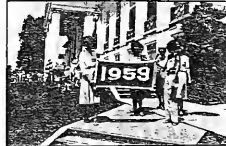

ELLEN McDONALD Minet of Oyster Bay, N.Y., is a vocal music position with high school and junior high students. She is retiring June 24 and is ready for it after 28 years of teaching.

BETSY BERRY Williamson is living in Richmond, Va., and has three sons and two grandchildren.

IDA SUMNER Reid is resource director for the Aging Health Policy Center, a national social science research institute located at the University of California, San Francisco. Her work includes managing a research library, seeking funding sources, editing, and disseminating publications. Two of the Center's products to which she has made extensive editorial contributions are The Nation's Health and Fiscal Asymmetry and Aging. Ida lives in San Francisco.

LYNN BARNER Wood of Birmingham, Ala. is a kindergarten teacher estate and has been involved with the Junior League for 18 years. Her husband is a manufacturers representative for a flooring and roofing co.

ANN GORDON BAGWELL Huot is a first grade teacher in Halifax, Va. She is also involved with church, social, and athletic activities.

BETSY BLESSING Anderson of Brownsburg, Va., is a housewife, antique dealer, and writer. Her husband is a contractor. Betty is having her first book published entitled "Annapolis, A Walk Through History."

LUCY FISHER West is an architect at Bryn Mawr in Downingtown, Pa. Her husband is in the insurance business.

GLENDIA FOWLER Jones of Houston, Tex., is a homemaker and involved with the museum, Kinkaid School, and her church. Glenda's husband is a medical doctor.

SALLY KATHERINE GRAHAM Murphy of Frederick, Md., is a housewife and a trustee of their Presbyterian Church. Her husband is a mechanical contractor.

GLORIA ANN GRANBERY

Evans of Clarksdale, Miss., is a housewife; her husband is a farmer.

JULIA JOHNSON Delder is an elementary music teacher in Sparks, Nev. Her husband is retired from the U.S. Army.

LOU JONES Painter is a third grade elementary school teacher in Richmond, Va. She is also a senior high youth advisor. Her husband is a minister for Bon Air Presbyterian Church.

ANN McCLUNG Anderson is in home management in Maryville, Tenn. Her husband is President of Maryville College.

NANCY McMURRAY of Arlington, Va., is a graphic designer and is currently working as a staff artist for a fundraising organization.

MARTHA MOSELEY Johnson of Tampa, Fla., is vice-president and secretary/treasurer for several small businesses, and she is involved with church activities. Her husband is a design engineer.

EMORY O'SHEE Apple of Louisville, Ky., is a tour guide and is involved with church, Girl Scouts, and Boy Scouts. Her husband is a trial lawyer.

ANN PETERSON McGee of Richmond, Va., is in business for herself with Whorries in Rhythm, Inc. She is also co-director of the Governor's Council on Physical Fitness and director for Dance for Heart Association. Her husband is president of a manufacturing company.

"SNIG" PHELEGAR Davis is teaching in Blacksburg, Va.

HELEN SUE RITCHIE Scherr of Sparta, N.J., is a teacher, newspaper advisor, and also a Cub Scout den mother. Her husband is a financial planner.

BETSY SHEETZ Jenkins of Marietta, Ga., is an interior decorator and part-time model; her husband is a lawyer.

ANN SINGLETARY Bass is a piano teacher in College Station, Tex. She is also involved with the church, Music Teachers Association and the concert series board. Her husband George is professor of archaeology and director of the Institute of Nautical Archaeology.

ANNE WAID Gardner is a housewife in Searcy, Ark., and is involved with the Junior League and Searcy Junior Auxiliary. Her husband Jack is a physician.

CELESTE WEATHERS Patterson of Tucker, Ga., is a homemaker and is active in the school, church, and community. Her husband is president of Patterson-West General Contractors.

FRANKIE WILLARD Daniel has recently been elected to a three-year term as a member of the board of directors of the National Council on the Social Studies. The Council is dedicated to improving the teaching of social studies and to furthering research and development in this area.

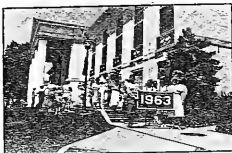

BOBBIE REID Bailey and family live in Birmingham, Ala. Bobbie is an avid tennis player and plays on the local team. Husband Russ is an attorney with Proctor, Little, and Co., and participates in conservation organizations.

MARY CLOUD HAMILTON Hollingshead of Clarksboro, N.J., is in her third year of working as assistant to the head of Sanford School and her husband Wick recently went with a group from the President's Club Sales to Marco Beach Resort.

CAROL WORNOM Sorenson of Fairfax, Va., keeps busy with interior design courses and family. Her husband Dick is working for the Pentagon.

SANDY ZEESE Driscoll of Kyoto, Japan, is busy on the board at both of her children's schools. She also serves as treasurer for a fundraiser for a community counseling service.

From Birmingham, Ala., FAYE BAKER Clark writes that she is a homemaker and mother of two. Faye has taken some courses toward a P.D. but has put it aside for the time being. She is on the board of directors of Big Brothers, Big Sisters, has held PTA jobs, and is active in her church and the bar auxiliary. Faye's husband is an attorney who is very involved in civic, church, and legal volunteer work.

HONEY BESSIRE Morris is a busy wife and mother in Los Gatos, Calif. Honey's husband is a physician, and they have four children.

LINDSAY BREAKELL Dmytro lives in Glassboro, N. J., and is a kindergarten teacher. Lindsay is currently working on another master's degree in counseling at Glassboro State and is planning a two-week trip to England with daughter Kim this summer.

LESLIE BROWN Baker is a freelance illustrator and is currently enrolled in the Adult Degree Program at Mary Baldwin. Leslie's husband is an attorney, and they have two children. Leslie and family live in Williamsburg, Va.

LYNN BUTTS Preston is mother of three in Boulder, Colo., and is a professor with the Geological Society of America. SHEARER TROXELL Luck, and BECKY CANNADAY Merchant had a wonderful visit in D. C. recently. They also saw NANCY ELY Wright, TERRY LEE ALEXANDER, and VIRGINIA HESDORFFER McDonald. Lynn's husband is director of admissions at Colorado University.

JILL CALLAWAY Garrett is a homemaker and mother of two in Goodlettsville, Tenn. Jill loves playing tennis and doing needlework. Her husband is owner of Garrett Financial Services, Inc.

KIT STUART Wise is a real estate broker in Boulder, Colo., and is active in the Attention Hones Auxiliary, chairman of the Boulder Charities Antiques Show, Kappa Alpha Theta, and other community volunteer activities. Kit has two children.

JUDY THOMPSON Hatcher is a homemaker in Toronto, Canada. She is a long-standing member of the Junior League and is on the board of directors of the Humewood House, a crisis center for young women. Her husband is a stockbroker for Wood Gundy, Ltd., and they have three children.

SHEARER TROXELL Luck lives in Ashland, Va., and is a homemaker and part-time physical therapist at the Richmond Memorial Hospital. She is a volunteer at the Arts and Activities Center, a band booster, assists with Meals on Wheels, is active in her church and Little League. Her husband is a sales manager and insurance agent. Their four children keep them very busy.

EMILY WISSENG Kelly owns a needlepoint shop in Salem, Va., and specializes in custom needlepoint designs. Her community activities include being on the board of directors for the Mill Mountain Theatre and the MFC Fine Art Center fundraising. As a mother of three, Emily received the 1983 Mother of the Year Award. Her husband is a sales and manufacturing executive.

BUNNY WISHART Johnson is a homemaker and mother of two in Silver Spring, Md. She is active in her church and the Hospice Society. Her husband is a manager for the C&P Telephone Company.

MACON CLEMENT Riddle lives in Roanoke, Va., and is a fifth grade teacher at North Cross School; her husband is an Episcopal clergyman. Macon, husband, and three children will be moving to New Orleans, La., this summer.

BITTY DAVIS TenBroek is a homemaker and mother of three in Wil-braham, Mass. Bitty loves to ski. Her husband is a marketing specialist with Friendly Ice Cream. Bitty's mother loves to sing and will be going on a European concert tour this summer.

EMILY DETHLOFF Ryan and family live in Houston, Tex. Emily is very involved in the activities of the Junior League and Amigos de Las Americas, and her husband is a self-employed consultant.

ANN DIAL McMillan is a vice-president with South Trust Bank in Birmingham, Ala., and writes that she is "amazed that I have been a banker for 20 years and continue to balance my roles of wife, mother of two, and worker." George is an attorney and has been active in legislative politics for ten years. He has served as a member of the state House, Senate, and a four-year term as Lieutenant Governor.

PAT FISHER McHolt stays very busy with her husband in Valdosta, Ga. She is an artist, teacher, studies art therapy, and has four children. Pat also serves on the committee for Maryland Hall for the Creative Arts. Mary's husband is a physician.

BETSY FITCH Benton lists her interests as jogging, tennis, sewing, needlework, and museum activities. Betsy is a part-time teacher in a private school for pre-schoolers. Her volunteer activities include the Children's Hospital, Junior League, Meals on Wheels, and docent at the Chrysler Museum. Her husband is sales representative for tax shelter programs in the southeast.

SHARON FOYE Hewlett lives in Rapid City, S.D., where she is a homemaker and mother of David.

Sharon is active in the Officers' Wives' Club, PTA, and the American Cancer Society. But it is in the Air Force and will soon be transferred to Offutt AFB. They are "tennis bums" in the summer and "ski bums" in the winter.

TERRY GEGGIE Fridley and family live in Covington, Va., where she is director of the gifted and talented program for the Allegheny Highlands School system. Terry is on the library board, a church trustee, and treasurer of the church's music program. She is also very interested in conducting seminars for gifted students and youth groups on the value of education and self-confidence of boys and girls. Terry's husband is a self-employed pharmacist.

CARPIE GOULD Coulbourn is on the MBC Alumnae Board, is active in her church, her children's schools, and various other volunteer activities. Carpie, Tom, and their three children live in Richmond, Va.

CAROLYN HALDEMAN Hawkins lives in Hampton, Va., and is a homemaker and personal computer and helping to organize the Peninsula Alumnae Chapter for MBC. Carolyn's husband is an attorney.

HOLLY HANSON Hill of Cohasset, Mass., is nursery school teacher and chairman of the communications council at Deer Hill School. Holly's husband is in sales, and they have three children.

ANNE HOGSHEAD Alderman lives in Wilmington, Del., and is the senior investigator in administrative law enforcement for the state of Delaware. Anne has five children.

HONEY INGLISH Shepherd is a self-employed real estate agent in San Antonio, Tex., and mother of two. Honey is active in the Junior League, planned parenthood, and is an MBC area coordinator. Her husband is an attorney.

MELISSA KIMES Millgard is an occupational therapist working at 23 schools to provide services for children who have learning disabilities. She also takes an active part in the community by volunteering as a school leader and is in the PTA. Melissa's husband is a biology teacher and choirmaster for the Clayton public schools. Melissa, husband, and four children live in Webster Groves, Mo.

ANN KING of Birmingham, Ala., is an English teacher at John Carroll High School. She is active in the Junior League, the Republican Party, and has been named state chairwoman for the Daughters of the American Revolution.

FRANCES LANEVSE Sexton is currently enrolled in the University of Tennessee. Between classes she has a busy schedule including work with the Junior League, her church, and the PTA. Her husband is a self-employed manufacturer's representative. Frances and her family live in Knoxville, Tenn.

LIBBY LINN Traubman is a homemaker and mother of two in San Mateo, Calif. Her husband is a children's dentist.

SALLY LIVINGSTON Brown lives in Midlothian, Va., where she is a counselor for the Women's Resource Center at the University of Richmond and will be filling in for a short time as a career counselor at J. Sargent Reynolds Community College. Sally's husband is an assistant plant manager for the Allied Corporation. Sally is mother of two.

TALLULAH LONG Whitesell is a homemaker and mother in Woodstock, Ga. She is active in her community, working with the Fine Arts Advisory Board and the Humane Society. Her husband is a professor of biology at Valdosta State College.

MICKEY McOWEN Robideau is a teacher in Clemmons, N. C., and mother of three, who keep her busy, especially with cheerleading. Mickey's husband is a sales manager for Commercial Carving Company.

MINTA McDIARMID Nixon is a homemaker and mother of three in Martinez, Ga. She is currently president of her Junior League and is very active in her church. Minty's husband is an independent insurance agent.

ROBBIE NELSON LaCompte is an artist in Midlothian, Va., and is a volunteer in the art department at a local school. Her husband is in sales, and they have three children.

ANNA KATE REID Hipp is a homemaker and the mother of three children in Greenville, S. C. She is active in the Junior League, United Way, and is a member of the Mary Baldwin Board of Trustees, and has been the recipient of the Algemoon Sydney Sullivan Award. Anna Kate's husband Hayne is chief executive officer and president of The Liberty Corporation.

KEENE ROADMAN Martin is a homemaker in San Antonio, Tex., a Girl Scout leader, den mother, Sunday School teacher, and holds various offices in the Wives' Club. Her husband is in the Air Force. Keene, her husband, and two children have recently returned from a two-year stay in Turkey. While there, they were able to travel through the Middle East and Russia.

LIN ROBERTS Madara is a homemaker and free-lance photographer at Narberth, Pa. Among her volunteer activities, she lists the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church, Herb Society of America, Episcopal Academy, Mary Baldwin College trustee, Philadelphia Museum of Art, The Woodstock Garden Club of America, and Main Line School Night. Lin and her husband have just completed the course required for real estate agents. Lin and Ed have two children.

JOAN STANLEY Maroulis is in sales for Lord and Taylor in Rockville, Md. She supports a leadership program at her church and the high school Booster Club. Her husband is manager for IBM, and they have two children.

MARY RUTHERFORD MERCER Ferguson keeps busy with four sons in Richmond, Va. She is a volunteer at the Children's Hospital, in the Junior League, and St. Christopher's School. Her husband is in investment banking.

JEANE MURKDOCH Joyner is a consultant in the math and vision for the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction. She was named "Teacher of the Year" in 1981 for Wake County Schools. Her husband is a teacher at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Jeane and family live in Raleigh, N. C.

SUSAN SAVAGE Bolling is a general manager for the Leisure Publishing Company in Roanoke, Va. Susan's husband is a salesman for the Whiting Oil Company, and they have four children.

CARYL ANNE SMITH Taylor of Chattanooga, Tenn., is a professor of gifted education at the University of Tennessee. Son Michael is currently in college.

MARY STARKE lives in Richmond, Va., and works for the Virginia State Employment Commission as a clerk. She belongs to a crafts group doing knitting and needlepoint. Mary is also studying accounting at Virginia Commonwealth University.

JACKIE RIDDLE Davidson lives in Richmond, Va., where her husband is an attorney, and she and her husband are active in the Junior League.

JUDY SHANNON Hellman is currently very busy with her husband and three children, along with many volunteer activities in the Junior League. Her husband is a block trader for his own aviation company. She and her husband went on a safari in Kenya this past November and feel it was the best experience of their lives.

SALLY SMITH Norvell is busy as a wife, mother, and Realtor in Austin, Tex. She is also active in the Junior League, Tri Delta Alumnae, and as a Bible teacher and speaker all over the U.S. She has been chosen as one of the Outstanding Young Women of America.

MARY LOU STUART Gary lives in Atlanta, Ga., where her husband is a manager and stockbroker for Merrill Lynch. She has three girls who keep her busy with school activities and sports events. She is also an active volunteer with a cancer home, her church circle, and the hospital auxiliary.

ROSANNE FRANCISCO is a professor of theatre at Mary Baldwin. She resides in Staunton with her husband and daughter.

SUSAN THOMPSON Hoffman is a very busy homemaker and volunteer in Danville, Va. Susan is currently serving on Mary Baldwin's Board of Trustees. Her husband Allan is a physician at the Danville Urological Clinic, and they have two boys.

PAM WRIGHT Brown is the manager and buyer for the Christian education department of Logos Bookstore. Her husband is the assistant director of academic computing at the University of North Carolina, and they have two children.

ANNE NIMMO Dixon is living in Roanoke, Va., where her husband Walter is an investment counselor. Anne is very busy with her two sons and is an active member of the Junior League and her church.

SUSAN OAST Somers resides in Charlotte, N.C., where she is a general partner in a real estate renovation firm. Her husband is an international banker for North Carolina National Bank, and they have three children.

SANDY OZMUM McDaniel is an assistant secretary for a title company in Corpus Christi, Tex., where her husband is a sales manager of a K-Mart store. She also volunteers for the Girl Scouts and the Singles Ministers. She and Bill will be traveling with their two girls in Germany and Switzerland this summer.

ELLEN PAGEN TEACHER Lewis has been very busy being a mother and homemaker, as well as owning her own antique shop in Tallahassee, Fla. She also volunteers at her children's school, her church, and the Tallahassee Junior Museum. Her husband is a professor and co-owner of a business.

ANN QUNDLEN Harris and her husband William are the proud parents of a son. They are living in Memphis, Tenn., where William is president of a real estate development and lighting fixture company. Ann is very active in the Junior League of Memphis and will also be the Duchess for the Grand Knecht of Memphis in the 1984 Cotton Carnival.

VICKIE REID Burford is the regional manager for This End Up Furniture Company in Roanoke, Va. She has two children and is active in the Junior League.

JAN DENNIS Clayton resides in Fredericksburg, Tex., and is the owner of "Images by Sultans," a national design firm for the show horse industry. She also breeds and raises Arabian horses, for show competition at her 18th-century German farmhouse. Her husband is an attorney, and they have three teenagers.

STEWART FAIR BARbour is a busy homemaker in Yazoo City, Miss., where her husband is a federal district judge. Stewart has three children and is very busy helping St. Jude's Children's Hospital fundraising events. She says she is enjoying country life and staying busy with her children who are very involved in school activities, sports, and show and go.

ALICE FARRIOR Butler is teaching junior high school math in Portsmouth, Va. Her husband and two daughters keep her busy, along with her various volunteer activities which include the Service League, the children's schools, and church work.

JUDY FLOETER Ford resides in Alpharetta, Ga., with her husband and two sons. Stewart is a water purification managing partner for Continental Water Systems.

MIMI VON GLAHN Bonstelle keeps busy as a housewife and mother of two children in Charleston, S.C. She is active in the Junior League, the local art gallery, and her church. Her husband is a terminal manager for a steamship line.

MARY ANN APPLEBY Marchio of West Simsbury, Conn., has a catering business, and her husband owns two dry cleaning plants. Mary Ann is a church elder and is active in PTA activities. They have two daughters.

HOPE LANEY Baskin and family live in Wilmington, N.C., where she is a professional psychologist at Southeastern Mental Health Center. Hope is also involved in her church, the League of Women Voters, and is working on several student textbooks and manuals for college psychology texts, as well as writing a dissertation.

BETTY LOU BARNES Pigge and family reside in Asstut, Va., where she is on the board of directors of the American Red Cross. Betty Lou was the Fair Chairman at Carlisle School this past year. Her husband is president of a furniture supply company.

BILLIE CAROL LITTON Clark, husband, and three children live in Clinton, N.C., where she is a second grade teacher. Her husband is serving as state president for the North Carolina Oil Jobbers.

KAY CARTMELL Ferrell and family live in Memphis, Tenn. Kay is active in the American Cancer Society, the LeBonheur Club, and the medical auxiliary. Her husband is a plastic and reconstructive surgeon.

CAROLYN CLEMMER McCulley is busy in Havelock, N.C., where she is a paralegal for litigation in the banking and securities area. She resides with her husband and two children as much as possible year round. They are planning a trip to the British Virgin Islands with friends where they will charter a sailboat and vacation.

FAIRFAX HARDESTY Montgomery is currently the assistant to the art bibliographer at the University of Georgia in Athens, Ga. She has two children, and her husband is a graduate student at the University of Georgia where he is working on his Ph.D.

SARAH HEAD Hendricks is living in Troy, Ala., with her two children and her husband. She is an artist and designer of architectural models for the Worthington Group. She is also president of the Troy Council on the Arts and Humanities and president of St. Mark's Episcopal Women of the Church.

JANE HEYWOOD Boylin is a management consultant in Huttigton, W.Va., and stays busy with her husband and four children. Jane is also active in the Junior League, the Music Board, PTA, Artists Series Board, and is a Sunday School teacher.

MARY CLAIBORNE Jarratt is living in Alexandria, Va. She is the assistant secretary of agriculture for the United States Department of Agriculture.

NANCY KAPP lives in Minneapolis, Minn., where she is the minister at the Peach Presbyterian Church. She also teaches part-time at the United Theological Seminary. Nancy studied in Israel and Egypt in 1983.

MARY KERR Sullivan is living in San Antonio, Tex., and does free-lance advertising. She has several awards for her work and is also busy with the Junior League and Children's Hospital Foundation. Mary has three children.

ANN KING Harkins, husband, and three children live in Beckley, W. Va., where her husband is the chief executive officer for the Bank of Raleigh. Ann is actively involved in her church, the junior high school, and the Boys Home.

BEVERLY LETCH is a Spanish teacher at Towson State University in Baltimore, Md. She was recently granted a sabbatical leave for work in Spain and Spain in preparation of a manuscript. Beverly has published a textbook for second-year Spanish conversation.

FRAN OVERSTREET Lovelace is living in Midlothian, Va., and is an assistant director and teacher at the Greenwood Country Day School. She plans to open her own nursery school in September of 1984. She has three children, and her husband is an industrial engineer for Philip Morris in Richmond.

JANE MILLER McCallum lives in Mt. Kisco, N.Y., where she keeps busy with her two children, raising horses and springer spaniels. Husband John is a real estate broker in the local area.

MARTHA MINTER Ferguson is a designer of handprinted originals in Hamlin, Tex. Her husband John is a rancher, and they have two children. Martha is also actively involved with the Junior League of Abilene, Tex., and is on the board of the Hendrick Home for Children.

JILL MORTON Toyofuku is an artist in Honolulu, Hawaii, where she owns an art company, Napali, Inc. She takes ballet and jazz classes. Her husband is a lawyer and the executive director of the Hawaii Academy of Plaintiffs Attorneys. They have two children.

NANCY NELSON Spencer is in special education in New Fairfield, Conn. Her husband and three daughters keep her busy, along with her various volunteer activities which include PTA, church, the swim team, service club, and Town Nature Center.

JO AVERY Crowder, an attorney in Atlanta, Ga., is active in the Junior League and board of directors of Atlanta Virtuosi. Her husband is a banker. They have three children: Annie, Caroline, and Grayson.

BONNIE BEIDERWIEDEN Klein of Bethlehem, Pa., is a food consultant/manager and active in the Allentown Art Museum and Heart Association. Her husband is an architect.

CAROLYN BERNEKING Kelleher is a homemaker in Duluth, Minn., and is involved with community activities. Her husband is in banking. They have three children: Amy, Andy, and Anna.

B.J. BROWN McKell is a housewife in New Orleans, La., and is active in Hospice. Her husband is a pastor with Eastminster Presbyterian church. Their three children are Joshua, Shannon, and Matthew.

SUSAN LEIGH BROWNE Webb is a substitute teacher in Salem, Va. She is also active in the Junior League. Her husband is a minister at Salem Presbyterian Church. They have two children: Wilfred and Betty.

VALERIE ANN CAMMACK Sies is a homemaker in Burlington, N.C. and active with the bloodmobile, church, and service work. Her husband is owner/manager of a pest control company. They have four children: David, Lisa, Amy, and Michael.

VIRGINIA STUART CHAPMAN Cobb of Little Rock, Ark., is a housewife and active in the Junior League and YWCA. Her husband is a banker. William and Cynthia are their two children.

ELEANOR CHEW Winnard is a housewife and private tutor in Michigan City, Ind. She is active in the Service League of Michigan City and her church. Her husband is a mechanical engineer. They are enjoying boating and swimming on the shores of Lake Michigan with daughters Erika and Ann.

MARY PICKETT Craddock of Washington, D.C., is director of a preschool and keeps very busy with a 400-acre farm. She is also active in Dumbarton Methodist Church. She has one child, Christopher.

POLLY DEVOE Lamal is an art instructor in Charlotte, N.C., and is first president and current board member of N.C. Print and Drawing Society. Her husband is a psychology professor. They enjoy traveling every summer.

JUNE EARLY Fraim is a homemaker and part-time teacher in Keflavik, Iceland, and is a member of the Navy Officer Wives Club. Her husband is a meteorologist with the S.N.V. They have two children, Thomas and Daniel.

CAROL ANN EMORY of the Netherlands is a lawyer/writer/publisher and editor. She keeps very busy with her offices all around the world. Her husband is also a lawyer and publisher. Carol is working on an adventure novel. They plan to run in the London Marathon. Carol will be moving back to the United States this summer.

CHARLOTTE FOCK is a librarian in Athens, Ga., at the University of Georgia.

JANET HADDERELL Connors is a housewife in Tampa, Fla., where she is involved with the PTA, the American Cancer Society. Her husband is with IBM, and they have a daughter, Kathleen.

DOROTHY IAFRATE Rudy is a Spanish teacher in Boca Raton, Fla. Her husband is vice-president of a savings and loan. They have two children, Jonathan and Michael.

MARGARET JACKSON Woodcock of Raleigh, N.C., is assistant State Health Director for Management. Her husband is retired. They have a son, Kevin.

NANCY CORNELIA JACKSON Miller is a homemaker in Richmond, Va., and is head of the church committee at Bon Air Presbyterian Church. Her husband is a state epidemiologist.

"KAK" JOHNSON McKinnie is a housewife in Rolling Hills, Calif., active in the Junior League, and president of the speech school guild. Her husband is a consultant and actuary. They have four children: Ashley, Margaret, William, and Robert. "Kak" is also enjoying tennis, horseback riding, and swimming in the Pacific.

MARJORIE ELLEN LOVING McCaleb is with Mary Kay Cosmetics in Crooksville, Va., and is chairman of MBC Eastern Shore Alumnae Chapter. Her husband is president of McCaleb & Co. insurance agents. Marjorie will be winning an Oldsmobile from Mary Kay.

JEAN ELIZABETH Lynn is a photographer in Richmond, Va. She is also active in the League of Women Voters and Girl Scouts. Her husband is a manufacturers representative and president of his own company. They have two children, Stephen and Susan.

CHARLOTTE MCCAA O'Connor of McLean, Va., is in real estate sales and is actively involved with the garden club and gourmet cooking group. Their three children are George, Christopher, and Thomas.

GAIL MCMECHAL Drew of Durham, N.C., is a homemaker, is active in the Junior League, and is a class coordinator for a community Bible study. Her husband is an attorney, and they have two children, Bill and Anna.

ANN MEBANE Levine of Morgantown, W. Va., is an administrative assistant of Intercession Studies Program. She is also involved in Girl Scouts and is a Sunday School teacher. Her husband is a professor of sociology. They have two daughters, Cynthia and Melissa.

MARY NEWELL of Charlottesville, Va., is a research administrator in the physics department at the University of Virginia.

FATH NEUSCHEL Burke of Buffalo, N.Y., is an assistant professor at Medaille College. Her husband is an attorney.

JUDITH FAYNE Grey of Upper Merion, N.Y., is a marketing manager for American Cyanamid Co. Her husband is a marketing director. They have two daughters, Amanda and Courtney.

HAZEL SOUTHALL McMillin is a homemaker in Franklin, Mass. Her husband is a regional vice-president of agencies with North American Life Insurance Co. They have two children, Spencer and Stuart, and are looking forward to a trip to Europe.

SUSAN SPICKARD Uhlig of Baltimore, Md., is a homemaker and involved with the Junior League. Her husband is in real estate. They have two sons, John and Robert.

CAROL STEWART Shaw of Weston, Conn., is vice-president of information services for General Reinsurance Corp. Her husband John is Director, Information Service for Madison Square Garden Corp. They have one child, Robert. They look forward to traveling to Europe at least once a year.

CHARLOTTE TYSON Mewborn of Farmville, N.C., is a primary reading aide and is involved with Girl Scouts, arts council, Heart Fund, and publishes the church newsletter. Her husband is assistant director of the N.C. Division of the Vocational Rehabilitation Department of Human Resources. They have two children, Amy and Kevin.

BETSY WALKER Cate is a homemaker and mother of three in Columbia, S.C., who enjoys horseback riding and fox hunting. Her husband is president of Cate-McLaurin Company.

NANCY WILLIAMS Korman is a homemaker and mother of three in Richmond, Va. Nancy's husband is an engineer with Philip Morris.

MARY LEWIS Hix is a homemaker in Munich, Germany. Her husband is a battalion commander with the Army. Mary, husband, and three children love living in Europe, but are looking forward to returning to the States in August.

'66 ANNE MORGAN Vickery of Vienna, Va., is with Hogan and Hartson where she practices law. She is also involved with the National Hispanic Organization. She has a baby boy recently.

'67 SUSAN N. PALMER of Mill Valley, Calif., is with Wells Fargo and Co. where she is currently managing the personal service function.

'70 MOLLY UPTON Tarr of Wellesley, Mass., and husband have recently moved from Miami back to Massachusetts.

'71 ELIZABETH FORE Hunsaker of Los Angeles, Calif., works for Latham and Watkins and is involved with community activities. Her husband Keith is a partner at a large national labor law firm.

'72 VIRGINIA MASTERS Fleishman of Eden, N.C., is busy with their three children, Nathan born in October, Leonie, and Margaret. Her husband Henry has a busy practice in surgery.

ELIZABETH FAY, M.D. of Lexington, Mass., and her husband Carl are busy with their three children.

NINA GRAHAM REID Mack of Swansea, S.C., and her husband James have their first child July 9, 1983. Nina has taken time out from her law career to be with him.

SALLY VA Matthews is senior vice-president for commercial lending in Houston, Texas. She has two daughters, Elizabeth and Catherine.

JILL BUTLER Pendleton of Roanoke, Va., is busy with her two children, as well as being involved with the Junior League and the medical Society. Her husband John is in practice as a rheumatologist.

'74

KATHY BARKSDALE Craine is a mother and homemaker in Columbus.

Ohio. She is also active in the Junior League. Her husband Robert is a business manager for the Accuary Corporation. They have two children, Leigh and William.

SUSAN BAUGHMAN Homar is an account executive for insurance sales and service in Washington, D.C. She is also very active with the MBC Alumnae Association Board of Directors. Her husband is a sales director for the Washington Beef Company. They have three children: Todd, Ann, and Rachel.

ELLEN BOWLER Cox is living in Winston-Salem, N.C., with her husband and two children. She is presently involved with the Board of the Voluntary Action Center and the Junior League. Her husband Alan is the group brand research manager for the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company.

MISSY MALONE Buckingham is presently a housewife and mother living in Richmond, Va., where her husband owns a real estate firm. She is also busy with the Junior League and her two children, Mary and Richard.

ELIZABETH CARY Spell is a financial analyst for the Federal Reserve Bank in Richmond, Va. She is also active in the Junior League. Her husband is a landscape architect for Higgins Associates.

PATTY CHITWOOD Sprague is living in Blacksburg, Va., where she is a physician for the Virginia Tech Student Health Service. Her husband Dennis is also a physician at the Pulaski County Hospital Emergency Room.

KATY COLVILLE Reid is currently a systems engineer for the Hewlett Packard Computer Company in Olney, Md. Her husband is an electrical engineer for the Digital Design Company. She is also busy with marathon running, tennis, and her new house.

JULIE CRAWFORD Phillips is currently living in Garland, Tex., where she is a registered nurse and prenatal instructor. Her husband is presently a radiology resident at Baylor University Medical Center. They have three children.

CAMILLE CREMERS Richards is a homemaker and mother in Yardley, Pa. Her husband is an environmental engineer for the state of New Jersey. They have two children, Jason and Kyle.

MYRA ANNE CUSHMAN has been living abroad since 1975. She is currently residing in Paris, France, where she is working as a child psychotherapist.

NANCY DANIELS of Richmond, Va., is a sales representative for a publishing company. She has recently passed her real estate license exam.

JOYCE DUEKE is a student at the University of Virginia where she is studying urban planning.

SUSAN ENGLANDER Fraile is a librarian for the Navy. Her husband is a nuclear engineer for the Navy. They have a son, David.

SALLY FARRAR Horland of Richmond, Va., is a librarian for Hanover County schools. Her husband is in the building supply business. They have one child, William.

EMILY FERRARA Hollings is a records manager for her home county, Charleston, S.C. She is active in the Junior League and her husband is a sales operation manager for a nursery.

NANCY GRANT Rhue of Raleigh, N.C., is working as a bank examiner for the North Carolina Banking Commission. She is active as an officer for the Homeowner's Association in her area. Nancy's husband is a supervisor for Dale Processing.

BRENDA HORSEMAN Greer is a homemaker and mother in Earlville,

Va. She is active in the Jayceettes. Her husband is a manager for a textile firm. They have two sons, Brandon and Andrew.

MARTHA GOLDEN Foster is a homemaker and mother in Wilson, N.C. Her husband is a technical services manager for a pharmaceutical manufacturer. They have three children: Bradley, Jennifer, and Christine.

JAMIE HEWELL Odezin is a pediatrician in Birmingham, Ala. Her husband is also a physician.

MARY HILL Kilpatrick is a homemaker in Madrid, Spain. She is active in the community, belonging to the Junior League, Red Cross, and church. Her husband is a dermatologist for the U.S. Air Force. They have two sons, Paul and David.

JERRI HILL Goodpasture of Bristol, Va., is a homemaker and volunteer. She is active in the Girls Club, Junior League and president of the Bristol County Company Board. Her husband is a sales manager for a motor co. They have two sons, Frank and Benjamin.

SARAH HILL is working as assistant director for a U.S. Army post in Richmond, Va. She is also active in the youth program at her church.

EVE HITCHMAN Morrison is a homemaker and part-time bookkeeper in Sta. Ne, Va. Her husband is a principal, teacher and pastor of a private Christian school. Their daughters are Grace and Rebecca.

BETSY HUNSUCKER McKenzie is a homemaker in Greenwood, N.C. She is active in the community through volunteer work in the Junior League, and her husband is in computer sales. They have a daughter Marcelena.

KATHERINE HULL Nowell is a credit officer in Norfolk, Va. She is active in the community and working with the United Way and Junior Achievement. Her husband is a general contractor.

CAROL HUTCHINS Niemann is a homemaker and mother of two children and John St. Leonard, Md. Her volunteer activities include work in the Humane Society, the Calvert Company garden club, and vice-president of the League of Republican Women. Her husband is a senior engineer for a nuclear power plant.

MARY KELLY Breese is an investment broker in Durham, N.C. She is currently studying to become a financial planner, and her husband is an attorney.

BONNIE KENNEDY Kant of Naples, Fla., is a branch manager and loan officer of a bank. Her husband is an engineer.

JUDY DURHAM Kennedy is a business systems engineer in Churchville, Va. She is active in the community through the Brownies, church, and as president of the Band Boosters. She has a daughter, Ginger.

"PATTY" LACY Gray of Wytheville, Va., is an antique shop proprietor and real estate agent. She is active in various church activities. Her husband works with her in the antique business.

VALERIE LUND Mitchell of Dallas, Tex., is an attorney, and her husband is a regional sales manager.

NANCY NODINE Robinson is a homemaker in Montgomery, Ala. Her husband is a salesman for a paper company, and their three children are Sally, John, and James.

LYNN MWHORTER Speno is a homemaker in Coconut Grove, Fla., and her husband is vice-president of a bank.

SUSAN METZGER Bright of Santa Barbara, Calif., is a horse trainer. Her husband is a carpenter and cabinet maker. They have a son Samuel and a large collection of pets that includes 3 dogs and 10 birds.

"GINNIE" JOHNSON Moss is a homemaker in Richmond, Va. She has recently started modeling for a local agency. Her husband is chief resident in orthopedic surgery in a local hospital. They have two children, John and Alice.

MARGARET PARKER Dills is a sales manager in Virginia Beach, Va. Her husband is an attorney.

JO ANN PEACOCK Logan of Goldsboro, N.C., is a homemaker. She is active in the Salvation Army and the local hospital. Her husband is in real estate and insurance sales.

SUSAN POOLE Condey is a minister of a Presbyterian church in Hampton, Va. Her husband is an associate pastor in the Presbyterian church. Elizabeth is their daughter.

HELEN RADCLIFFE Gregory is a public relations coordinator in Frederick, Md. Her volunteer activities include being a board member of the March of Dimes and a member of the Jaycee women. She was nominated in 1982 for the Outstanding Young Marylander. She also received the Lady Calvert Award which is the highest award by the Maryland Jaycee Women. Her husband is a CPA, and they have two daughters, Elizabeth and Jane.

ANNE ROBERTSON McAteer of San Francisco, Calif., is a mother and homemaker. Her volunteer activities include the Junior League and being an arbitrator in civil disputes. Her husband is an executive recruiter.

BRIDGET ANNE RYAN is an office manager for a utility company in Concord, N.C. She is active in the community through work in the United Way, Junior Women Club, and as a Chamber of Commerce Ambassador.

TERRE SALMON Sullivan is a homemaker and mother in Memphis, Tenn. Her husband is an obstetrician and gynecologist. They have two children, Connell and Henry.

MERIE SCIBAL Pawiowski is a sales representative for a real estate firm. Her husband is an electrical engineer. They and their two children Matthew and Lisa, live in Turnersville, N.J.

LIZ SIMONS Ficarella is a homemaker and mother in New York, N.Y. Her volunteer activities include work in the Hemophilia Foundation. Her husband is an executive producer of TV commercials. They have one son, Anthony. She has recently served as chairman of the New York Alumnae Chapter and is currently on the Alumnae Board of Directors.

ANN SKINNER Hornsby is a homemaker in Toano, Va. She volunteers as a teacher's aide in a preschool. Her husband is in the real estate business. They and their two children, Robert and Susanah, are building a new house in Williamsburg.

ALICE E. SMITH of Missoula, Mont., has recently returned to school to pursue interests in speech therapy, pottery, and creative writing.

DIANE SRIGLEY Marciano is a homemaker and mother in Ledyard, Conn. She is active in her church music department. Her husband is a construction contractor and engineer for a utility company. They have two children, Gabriel and Lee.

LYNN STALL is a full time student at the University of South Florida in Decatur, Ga. She does volunteer work in her church and teaches at an adult education center.

TINA ALEEN Cartwright, a mother of children Allison and Mark, lives in Boca Raton, Fla. Her husband is in real estate development.

BRENDA SEYMORE Allen is a government relations assistant in Washington, D.C. She resides in Alexandria, Va.

ANN AREY Mason is a housewife in Richmond, Va., and is active in the Junior League and Turnhook Garden Club. Her husband is an insurance broker. They have two daughters, Catherine and Susan.

'75

SUSAN BICKERSTAFF Orne of Richmond, Va., and husband John recently bought an old house in the Fan section which they are renovating. Susan sees LUCY LEWIS and ANNE NORTH Howard often.

PATTI REYNOLDS of Houston, Tex., is busy with work in investments with Rotan-Moyle and volunteer activities for the Houston Symphony. Patti recently saw ELLEN LUTZ Hardin of New Orleans during a visit to Houston.

HOLLON MEADERS Ore recently opened a new dental practice in Dallas, Tex., with two other women dentists.

She also keeps busy with son William. SUSAN LEMMON Hobbs enjoys having CELIE HICKS Gehring '74 and her family as next-door neighbors in Richmond, Va.

'76

ELIZABETH KINCAID Crosby of Winter Springs, Fla., and husband William had their first child, William, last November. They also have moved into a new house.

LYNN HOWARD Lawrence of New Orleans, La., stays busy with her two boys, Stratton and Newman, and she does calligraphy in her spare time.

'77

ANN CALHOUN Dent has completed her graduate work and received her doctorate last May. Her husband Bill is fulfilling a public health service obligation by practicing medicine. They live in Jackson, Miss.

'78

LINDSIE JEAN WICKHAM Harner of Colorado Springs, Colo., is office manager for CIBAR Systems Institute. She is also involved in the Ft. Carson American Red Cross as publicity chairman. Her husband Bill is a Captain in the U.S. Army. They enjoy skiing, hiking, and camping in the Colorado Rockies.

LETIA MCDANIEL Drewry of Hampton, Va., completed her M.S. degree in materials engineering in February from George Washington University.

DEBORAH DANIEL Rastell of Washington, D.C., is an employee benefits consultant. She has a son Andrew.

'79

KIMBERLY BAKER Glenn and husband, Charles live in Westlake Village, Calif., and are enjoying seeing as much of California as possible, especially San Francisco! Kimberly is taking oil painting classes for relaxation and works as a cost analyst for First Interstate Bankcard. Charles is a patent attorney with Rockwell International.

BARBARA BARNES Wissbaum lives in Pineville, N.C., and she and her husband both work for Duke Power Company. Barbara is a programmer/analyst, and he is an accounting clerk. Barbara teaches a night preparatory class in data sufficiency at Queens College in Charlotte on a part-time basis and has recently enrolled in a stained glass class.

GRETCHEN BINARD Menane is an associate scientist with Astrin in Charlottesville, Va., and her husband is a building contractor. They have a son named Jason.

ELLISON CAREY lives in Dover, Del., and is a registered sales assistant/representative with Merrill Lynch.

MARTHA CARR is a sales assistant with Davenport and Company of Virginia in Richmond, Va.

CINDY CARSON lives in Greenville, S.C., and is a medical social worker with St. Francis Community Hospital. After leaving MBC, Cindy graduated from Columbia College in 1979 and the University of South Carolina Graduate School of Social Work in 1981.

KATHLEEN CHUPAK lives in Belleville, N.J., and is a publishing marketing assistant with Nichols Publishing.

BETH CLARKE Alley and family moved into their first home in Earlsville, vile, Va., recently. Beth is a homemaker and mother of Catherine. Her husband is a research engineer with General Electric.

CLASHES

TAYLOR COCKERHAM is an architect with The Christner Partnership in St. Louis, Mo. During the summer of 1982, Taylor spent time in Europe to see urban design and development of cities from Roman cities to modern cities. She was also a member of the team which built a model of the St. Louis train station, an historically significant building which has been saved and is being developed by the Rouse Corporation.

NANCY DANA Theses is in the marketing department of First Citizens Bank in Columbia, S.C., and her husband is in the real estate business.

LESLIE DORE Hane lives in Aurora, Colo., and is a financial analyst with Champlin Petroleum Company.

DOROTHY (Dee) DRAKE Whitaker and her husband have recently moved to Brandenburg, Ky., where she is active in the Junior League of Louisville and the Officers Wives Club. Dee is planning to obtain her real estate license in the near future. Her husband is an emergency room physician.

B. J. FELTON of Atlanta, Ga., is an accounting systems department manager and vice-president with Citizens and Southern Georgia Corporation. B. J. is actively involved in the High Museum, Emory (in support of the Atlanta Symphony), PRO's (Professionals on Stage), and the Atlanta MBC Alumnae Chapter.

KATHERINE GODDARD Bennett is a homemaker in Arnold, Md., and her husband is a specialist in recruiting financial and accounting professionals.

SUSAN GORDON of Falls Church, Va., is an information systems specialist with Exemplary Systems, Inc.

JANE HARCUS has been living in Williamsburg, Va., attending the College of William and Mary where she recently completed her M.A.

SUSAN HARRIS and her husband are living in Richmond, Va. She has received her master of social work degree from Virginia Commonwealth University, and her husband is a mechanical engineer with Carnell and Johnston.

ELLEN HOWE lives in Dallas, Tex., and is the owner of the Plaza Boutique, a ladies dress shop. Ellen is president of the Sinder Plaza Merchants Association.

MARTHA HUNTER lives in Richmond, Va., and works with the Virginia State Water Control Board.

BETTY (Boo) JOHNSON lives in Williamsburg, Va., while attending the College of William and Mary and working toward her M.B.A.

ROBIN JUSIEWICZ Laferty and her husband live in Pittsburgh, N.J., where she is an assistant controller with Bactomate and he is a nuclear medicine physicist with Kings County Hospital.

MARTHA KRAUSS has recently bought a house in Richmond, Va., which she is enjoying decorating. Martha is showing her horse successfully on a local circuit and is employed by Philip Morris as a quality assurance supervisor. KELLY Y. MILLER lives with Martha. Kelly is a data entry supervisor with the Division of Motor Vehicles.

LYNNE KREGER resides in Richmond, Va., and is a services representative for the American Express Company. Lynne enjoys snow skiing in winter and sailing in the summer.

KIMBERLEE LAMBE is a realtor in Winston-Salem, N.C., and is active in the Junior League. She is presently attending the Graydon Hall's Institute at UNC at Chapel Hill.

KATHY LARUS Powell and Mark have been redoing a 50-year-old house in Richmond, Va., and love it. They recently took a trip to the Bahamas. Kathy is working for United Virginia Bank, and Mark is a real estate broker.

LUCY LEAKE lives in Newtown Square, Pa., and is regional sales manager for This End Up furniture company.

MARY LAUREN LEHNERTZ Faulkner lives in Aurora, Colo., where she is assistant manager with Buccaneer, Ltd., a traditional women's clothing in Denver. Mary Lauren's husband is land manager with CREDO Petroleum Corporation. Her volunteer activities include the Junior League, Junior Symphony Guild, the Centennial Club, and MBC Alumnae Board.

CYNTHIA LUCK taught in Staunton for a year and then moved to Charlottesville, Va., where she has continued teaching. Cynthia has traveled to Australia and New Zealand with the Experiment in International Living, and since then, her "Aussie" family came to visit her. Cynthia is also involved in the Junior League of Charlottesville.

KAREN MATEJA Winchester is a homemaker and mother of Jennifer to Stone Mountain, Ga. Karen's husband is general manager of Allright Parking, Inc.

GAYLA MCLELLAND Lemmon is redecorating a farm home which she and her husband recently purchased in Pataskala, Ohio. Gayla works as a secretary, and her husband is a foreman with Shelly and Sands, a sand and gravel mine company.

In Hickory, N.C., SALLIE MCCUTCHEON Johnston is a part-time office manager and full-time mother to Katie. Sallie is very involved in High Hope of Hickory, a mentally and physically disabled children. Her husband works for Jefferson Standard, a life insurance company.

MARY NELL McPHERSON lives in Charlotte, N.C., as a computer systems analyst with Automated Business Systems. Husband Kevin A. Strawn is a computer programmer analyst with Duke Power Company. They recently bought a new old house and look forward to renovating it themselves.

CINDY MILLS Gallo and husband Christopher live in Jacksonville, Fla., where Cindy is manager and buyer with Ortega River Trading. They have three cats named Ernest, Julio, and Abdul!

REBECCA MINER Peabody and husband Bob live in Grose Pointe, Mich. A. N. is an investment broker with A. G. Edwards and Sons.

BARBARA MISKA is a visual information specialist for the federal government, USA FSTC. Barbara lives in Rockersville, Va.

JANE MOODY Alford is currently taking ceramic classes and training dogs for obedience classes. Jane is a probation counselor for the Department of Corrections in Lexington, Va., and her husband is in sales with the Consolidated Shoe Company.

MIMI MYER Hurst and husband Joe lived in New York City while he attended N.Y.U. They have recently returned to Little Rock, Ark., where they have been busy getting settled, working, and involved in Little Rock activities. Mimi is a stockbroker, and Joe is an attorney.

DENISE OTT of New Orleans, La., is a community organizer with NON-PACC (New Orleans Neighborhood Police Anti-Crime Councils) which keeps her busy "8 days a week, 36 hours a day!" Denise writes that working directly with the chief of police and the mayor keeps every day of her life "a hot action" story.

JENNIFER PACE Gray is a program analyst with United Virginia Bank in Richmond, Va., and her husband is a production superintendent with Manville Corporation.

CARYL PALMORE has recently bought a condominium in Pineville, N.C. Caryl is a senior commercial lines underwriter with Royal Insurance Company and is active in the Charlotte Jayettes and Charlotte Rehabilitation Hospital.

NANCY RANDALL Mackey is assistant branch manager with the Bank of New York; she is treasurer of the Harrison, N.Y., Chamber of Commerce and is active in the United Way. David is an analyst with Philip Morris, and they live in Norwalk, Conn.

"BOCKY" STEPHENS Talbot and Frank live in Richmond, Va., where she is an administrative assistant with Avco Leasing. Frank is active in the Junior League of Richmond. Frank is an investment officer with Sovran Bank.

MILDRED TAYLOR is a substitute teacher in the Falls Church, Va., school system, and her husband is a United Methodist minister. Mildred is an Adult Degree Program graduate. They have three children: Deborah, Edward, and Susan.

BETH CATO Thomas is a restaurateur and catering manager for the Hardware Store Restaurant in Charlottesville, Va. Beth's husband is a teacher in the Albemarle County schools.

ELLEN UNDERWOOD writes that she is enjoying life in Winter Haven, Fla., where she works as a reporter for The News Chief.

MARIE WALKER Abbott and her husband have recently moved to Winston-Salem, N.C., where they bought a condo and are now living a busy life. Anna-Marie is a social studies teacher, and her husband is a physician.

CARTER WARREN has recently moved to Virginia Beach, where she works with Ramada Inn.

MARY LETHA WARREN recently bought a condominium in Richmond, Va., and is having great fun decorating it. NANCY TOKARZ '78 is her roommate. Mary Letha is senior buyer with Best Products and is actively involved in the Richmond Alumnae Chapter and the MBC phonathon.

SALLY WAY Speaker is a homemaker in Tuscaloosa, Ala., and has a home typing service for the University. Her husband is the chaplain at the Druid City Hospital and they have a son, Preston Bates.

ALICE WELCH Cox and family live in Waynesboro, Va., where she is a part-time medical technologist for the Associated Physicians and a full-time mother to Joshua and Benjamin. Alice's husband is assistant vice-president for Sovran Bank.

ANN BYRD Whitmore is medical systems coordinator for the Virginia Data Center of Virginia and is taking computer science courses at night at Old Dominion University. She is a volunteer at the Children's Hospital of the King's Daughters and lives in Richmond, Va.

DEBRA WILTON Kopley and family are stationed in Burtonwood, England. Debra is a homemaker, and her husband is an Army captain. They have a son, John David.

GLORIA ZUNIGA Canseco is a caterer in Laredo, Tex., and is active in the hospital auxiliary, community concert, and the Laredo Art League. Gloria's husband is an attorney, and they have two children, Alex and Francisco.

SHELLEY GOODE is regional director of development at Syracuse University in Syracuse, N.Y. Shelley will be moving to Baltimore soon.

AMANDA BURRUS is living in San Antonio, Tex., where she has recently joined the American Institute of Banking as seminar and marketing coordinator. Along with that, she is vice-president of communications for the local chapter of the International Association of Business Communicators.

She bought a house in San Antonio and is learning the hard way about maintenance and repairs to an older home. SHERILL FEAGANS Jack has recently moved to Kansas City, Mo., with her husband who is an FBI agent. They will be there for two years and are enjoying themselves.

DIANE WALCZAK Janssen of Maple Shade, N.J., has successfully completed two of the four-part CPA exam.

VALERIE WENGER of Austin, Tex., is in her third year of law school at the University of Texas.

MARGARET WREN Farrar of Savannah, Ga., is presently busy with the Historic Savannah Foundation, the Red Cross, and is active in the Officers' Wives' Club. Her husband Sidney is with the Ranger Battalion.

BRENDA HAGG has recently moved to Ardmore, Pa., where she is a stockbroker with Kidder and Peabody.

KAREN NEFF of Lakeland, Fla., has recently joined Nissen Advertising as a staff artist.

WENDY ATKINS of Staunton, Va., has recently assumed duties as a case-worker with the Big Brothers/Big Sisters Program.

ADELE MOORE Lane is in graduate school in Redlands, Calif. She is student teaching and hopes to have her California teaching credentials soon. Her husband Hank is a pilot with the U.S.A.F. They will soon be moving to Wichita Falls, Tex.

JENNIFER GIFFORD Little of Old Saybrook, Conn., has recently completed a one-year lay ministry program in Ambridge, Pa. She and her husband are preparing to be missionaries in Brazil.

MARY PLEASANTS is the director of teller training for the National Bank in Charlottesville, Va.

CATHERINE CALHOUN is working on Wall Street with Mudge, Rose, Guthrie, Alexander, and Ferdan as a public finance administrator.

MARGARET ANN POTTER is attending Campbell University School of Law.

MARY LOU GODERRE is working with St. John's University in Owens, N.Y., as the assistant director of personnel services.

MARY SHUFORD of New York, N.Y., has joined Shearson/Amern Express as a sales assistant. She sees quite a bit of GABBY GELZER who also works with Shearson/Amern Express.

HELEN STEVENS works with Lear Gem Limited in New York City as the assistant pearl buyer. She has recently graduated from the Geological Institute of America and has started taking classes at New York University in business investments.

MARY WILSON is working with South Carolina Federal Savings and Loan as a manager trainee in Columbia, S.C.

SANDY SHUFELT lives in Falls Church, Va., and is the documentation librarian for the First Virginia Bank, Inc.

LISA WRIGHT is an advertising sales representative for WXAM radio in Charlottesville, Va.

On April 28, 1984, in San Antonio, Tex., KATHY JONES was married to a childhood sweetheart. Her wedding was a small reunion for the Class of '83. In her wedding party were MARY BARTLETON, GABBY GELZER, HELEN STEVENS, JOHN WILSON, SON, and KATHERINE LARID. Also attending the festivities were MARTHA ANTHONY, SHELLEY "Crip" TUCKER, and SHAWN BROWN. We hear Abba Ka-Dabra will never be the same!

RENEE OLANDER of Norfolk, Va., has accepted a job as administrative assistant for the trust department of First Virginia Bank of Tidewater.

BIRTHS . . .
ANN MORGAN Vickery '66 and Raymond, a son, Philip Dickens, February 16, 1984.

TEMPE GRANT Thomas '68 and Jack, a daughter, Constance Anna, January 16, 1984.

STEPHANIE SHEARER Timm '70 and Neil, a daughter, Emily, February 19, 1983.

KATHY TURNER Temple '68 and Jerry, a daughter, Katherine Turner, March 14, 1983.

MARTHA BOOTH Jennison '70 and John, a daughter, Catherine Booth, March 20, 1983.

SHARON ELLIS Cruich '70 and John, a daughter, Elizabeth Bennett, March 16, 1984.

SUSAN HOCH Crane '71 and Warren, a daughter, Camille Florence, February 1, 1984.

JOYCE YOUNG Westel '71 and Jay, a daughter, Haley McLaurine, January 30, 1984.

JAMIE ANGE Wallace '72 and William, a son, Matthew Harrison, January 2, 1984.

MARY JULIA'S CUPBOARD

GEORGIA ROBERT Draucker '73 and Bob, a son, Robert McClure, October 12, 1983.

JANET FEARDER Griffin '75 and George, a daughter, Emily Allgood, January 26, 1984.

SUSAN HAMNER Daoust '75 and Greg, a son, William Joseph, February 7, 1984.

MARY KAY SCHORN Stainback '76 and Dudley, a son, Matthew Franklin, February 24, 1984.

LYNN HOWARD Lawrence '76 and Bob, a son, Newman Huckabee, March 10, 1984.

KATHY McCAIN Lee '77 and Richard, a son, Thomas Barrett, December 21, 1983.

MARY MEADE ATKINSON Sipple '78 and Chuck, a daughter, Sarah Castleton, June 14, 1983.

CAROL LYNNER WYDA Fox '80 and Ralph, a son, Ralph Alston, IV, October 12, 1981.

From Ham to Jam Cookbook:

Contains over 500 tested recipes, all submitted by members of the Mary Baldwin family nationwide. A must in collection of beginners to experienced cooks. A unique gift item for Christmas, house-warmings, graduation, engagements, birthdays, Mother's Day. Now in its second printing.

Price: $8.95

(Please add $1.50 postage and handling)

Mary Baldwin Chairs:

Black lacquer finish with hand painted gold trim, featuring gold seal of the College. An engraved brass name plate can be attached to the back of the header at a nominal cost upon request. Available in five styles.

Boston rocker $125.00

Captain's chair with black arms $120.00

Captain's chair with cherry arms $130.00

Side chair $ 85.00

Child's chair $ 65.00

Freight charges C.O.D.

Mary Baldwin Cross Stitch Kits:

Includes full skeins of DMC floss, material, graph, and instructions. Makes an 8" x 10" picture.

Price: MBC seal $15.00

Administration $15.00

Building $15.00

Grafton Library $15.00

(Please add $1.50 postage and handling)

Make Meaningful

These Passing Years:

A collection of campus prayers by Dr. Thomas Hancock Grafton, who came to Mary Baldwin in 1933 as head of the Department of Sociology. An ordained minister of the Presbyterian Church U.S. at the request of the Alumnae Association, Dr. Grafton, An or collected these prayers for publication to represent a typical year at MBC. Limited Supply. Price: $5.00 (includes postage and handling)

Mary Baldwin

Notecards:

A package of ten notecards with an original drawing of the Administration Building by Augusta County artist Bill Haines. Envelopes included.

Price: $3.00

(includes postage and handling)

Pen and Ink Print of Administration Building:

By Bill Haines. Size: 11" x 14".

Price: $5.00

(includes postage and handling)

Mary Baldwin

Needlepoint Kit:

MBC seal marked in color on 15" x 15" canvas. Persian yarn is provided for working the design. (Background yarn is not provided.)

Price: $30.00

(includes postage and handling)

Mary Baldwin Scarves:

The Washington Chapter has commissioned Frankie Welch of America to design this very special scarf for Mary Baldwin alumnae. The 8" x 34" scarf features a bright green design on cream background. Send your order to Susan Moomaw, Cameron Mews, Alexandria, Va. Please make check to Washington Chapter, MBC. Price $18.00 (includes postage and handling).

Mary Baldwin Blazer:

This fully-lined navy blazer from Gordon of Philadelphia comes complete with brass buttons. The Mary Baldwin seal is monogrammed on the breast pocket in ivory and gold. Two fabrics to choose from:

Style A: 100% wool lamel $145.00

Style B: University cloth $145.00

(55% polyester, 45% worsted wool)

Available in sizes 4-18

Allow four weeks for delivery

Personalize your blazer with a three-letter monogram on the interior pocket. Specify surname initial by underlining: $3.00. Add $5.00 for shipping.

Eglomise Paintings on Glass:

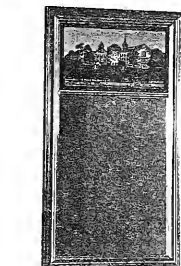

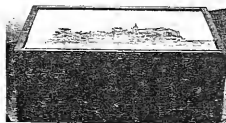

Each piece includes a hand-painted scene of the Administration Building and Chapel on the reverse side of the glass by Eglomise Designs of Boston. The mirror and the picture are framed in wood and leafed in silver tones. The desk box is silver with brass fittings.

Mirror (15" x 26") $110.00

Framed painting (10" x 15") $ 80.00

Desk box (12" x 7" x 2") $110.00

Add $2.00 for shipping charges

MARRIAGES . . .

GARDNER ROLLER '73 to Larry L. Lory, February 11, 1984.

SUE HEBRANK '75 to Joe Chrome, May 19, 1984.

MARCIA EVANS '76 to Carlton Gravit, May 12, 1984.

LINDSLEY JEAN WICKHAM '78 to Captain William E. Harner, November 3, 1983.

JANE KLINE Chaplin '78 to Barry Leonard Brandenburg, May 12, 1984.

REBECCA MINER '79 to Robert M. Peabody, Jr., October 22, 1983.

RUTH SPRUNT '80 to Bruce Kevin Johnson, October 15, 1983.

MARGARET WREN '81 to Sydney Farrar, June 1983.

JENNIFER GIFFORD '82 to Geoffrey Alan Little, October 8, 1983.

JOYCE BOATWRIGHT '82 to David L. Cole, Jr., December 3, 1983.

KATHY JONES '83 to Kevin Flynn, April 28, 1984.

IN MEMORIAM . . .

MARGARET GAGE Rainier '24, December 13, 1983.

RUBY CRIZER Hamrick '27, May 10, 1984.

ELIZABETH HAMLET Carter '32, May 18, 1984.

ANN RIFE Cox '43, January 31, 1984.

MAXINE KING French '43, January 28, 1984.

MARY JANE RAWLINS Schlinger '57, May 9, 1982.

Going Places With MBC

IRELAND:

Travel Coast to Coast visiting Galway, Dublin and Killarney. August 13-22, 1984.

THE BEST OF EASTERN EUROPE:

Experience the contrasts of Eastern and Western Europe visiting Vienna, Budapest, Prague, Dresden, East and West Berlin. December 27, 1984-January 9, 1985.

SOUTH AFRICA:

An exciting fifteen-day adventure which includes Johannesburg, Sun City, Kruger National Park, Swaziland, Zululand, Durban, and Cape Town. Visit diamond mines, wild animal sanctuaries, a South African winery and more. March 1985.

SCANDINAVIAN ADVENTURE:

A two-week trip featuring Stockholm, Oslo, Bergen, Copenhagen and cruises on the Sognefjord and the Hardanger Fjord. May 1985.

For more information on any of these trips contact the Office of Alumnae Activities. 703/886-6234.

Sold through Mary Baldwin College Alumnae Association. All proceeds are applied to the Alumnae Association Projects Fund. If you have questions concerning your order, please call the Office of Alumnae Activities: 703/887-7007.

ORDER FORM

Name: _____

Address: _____

Telephone: _____

Ship to: (if different from above)

Name: _____

Address: _____

Quantity	Item and Description	Size	Unit Price	Total Price

Make checks payable to:

Mary Baldwin College

Send order form with check or money order to:

Mary Baldwin College

Office of Alumnae Activities

Staunton, Va. 24401

Total

Va. Residents

add 4% Sales Tax

Shipping Postage

and Handling Charges

Grand Total

PHI BETA KAPPA TAPS SEVEN WOMEN

"The scholar is that man who must take up unto himself all the ability of the time, all the contributions of the past, all the hopes of the future."

—Ralph Waldo Emerson
The American Scholar, 1837

Just as our system of government was begun in 1776, so did our scholarly traditions begin that year with the founding of Phi Beta Kappa at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg.

As one of only 234 colleges and universities in the U.S. and 11 in Virginia with PBK Chapters, Mary Baldwin College carries on this tradition of academic excellence.

The Lambda of Virginia chapter was established at MBC in 1971. When it was established, 14 faculty members who had been tapped into membership in their own colleges were charter members of the MBC chapter. They included Sarah J. Banks, the late Herbert Lee Bridges, Martha S. Grafton, A. Charlotte Hogsett, Robert H. LaFleur, the late Mary Emily Lakenan, the late Ruth McNeil, Patricia H. Menk, Dorothy M. Mulberry, the late Frank W. Price, Ben Huddleston Smith, Jr., the late Charles J. Stanley, the late Mildred E. Taylor, and the late Herbert S. Turner.

Among these members, those still on the faculty are Charlotte Hogsett, Robert LaFleur, and Dorothy Mulberry. Currently, MBC has 12 faculty and nine student members.

Each spring, the tradition continues as new student members are tapped and recognized at the Honors Convocation. New members are selected from 10 percent or fewer of the senior class and five percent of the junior class. Students must show academic excellence and a breadth of learning in traditional liberal arts studies.

The following students were tapped in the spring:

Mary Joanna Campbell '84, Mint Spring, Va.
Saundra Kathryn Eareckson '84, Bloomfield Hills, Mich.
Anna Cote Gladdersleeve '84, Winchester, Va.
Amy Christine Lawler '84, Greenville, N.C.
Mary Katherine Moorman '84, Martinsville, Va.
Laura Elizabeth Wilson '84, El Dorado, Ark.
Jennelle Carroll Saunders '85, Fredericksburg, Va.

PBK election has been for nearly 200 years a "recognition of intellectual capacities well employed, especially in the acquiring of an education in the liberal arts and sciences." Given its high proportion of famous names on the roll of Phi Beta Kappa, admission to its ranks is an indication of having such potential for future distinction.

In addition to the faculty and student members from MBC, there are now more than a hundred alumnae members elected since 1971.

—Ann Clayton Brandt

Virginia Lester Elected To NCAA Presidents Group

The University of Virginia isn't the only Virginia college making it big in the NCAA this year.

President Virginia L. Lester is among three Virginia college presidents elected to the new NCAA Presidents' Commission, along with William E. Lavery, president of Virginia Tech and Ladel Payne, president of Randolph-Macon College in Ashland.

The Presidents' Commission, established by action of the NCAA membership at its annual convention in January, marks the first time that a formal structure has been established for presidential involvement in the intercollegiate athletics organization, according to Ted Tow, assistant executive director for NCAA.

The new 44-member commission includes 22 members from Division I, 11 from Division II, and 11 from Division III. The three Virginia college presidents are among 31 of the commission's members who were elected nationally by other college presidents in their respective divisions. The other 13 members were appointed from Divisions I-A and I-AA.

President Lester represents Region 3, Division III, and is one of only four women on the commission. She is also one of only two presidents of women's colleges represented among the 44 institutions. Mary Baldwin College joined the NCAA and Old Dominion Athletic Conference in 1982.

Dr. Lester said, "Athletics is an important aspect of a college student's growth. I am looking forward to working with my presidential colleagues to ensure that intercollegiate competition for women and men complements the educational progress of our college students."

The Presidents' Commission will have "a great deal of influence and very far-reaching authority," explained NCAA's Ted Tow. It can review anything the NCAA does and can submit legislation directly to the convention.

Among the issues the presidents are likely to consider are eligibility, academic concerns, and financial considerations for college athletics. And, they will probably look at the NCAA membership structure itself considering such things as the Division I-A members' desire to have greater autonomy in setting their own rules.

The NCAA, established in 1906, is the national administrative organization for college athletics. The NCAA membership includes 786 institutions, 100 athletic conferences, 31 institutional associate memberships and 53 affiliated organizations.

—Ann Clayton Brandt

TOGETHER AGAIN

Vol. XXXIII No. 2

MARY BALDWIN

Summer 1984